CONTENDS THAT SYNDICATES WERE LAST RESORT

Mutual Life Treasurer Makes Vigorous Defense of His Company.

NOTHING TO CONCEAL FROM INQUISITORS

He Frankly Admits He Made Large Personal Profits in Various Transactions.

OWN COMPANIES ARE USED

The law of combination, which affects finance as everything else, has made syndicates necessary. * * * * It is absolutely impossible to buy advantageously large blocks of securities except as they are floated by these combinations of capital, and we have to go into them to get our investments and get them in sufficient size to get "ground-floor" prices. * * * * We could not make the transactions of $100,000,000 a year in securities without using syndicates.—Frederick Cromwell, treasurer of the Mutual Life Insurance Company.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—A vigorous defense of syndicates and their operations in connection with the insurance business, and a frank statement of personal profits gained through their operations, made by Frederick Cromwell, treasurer of the Mutual Life Insurance Company, was the feature of today's session of the special legislative committee appointed to probe methods of life insurance companies in this state.

The defense of the syndicate was made by Mr. Cromwell soon after he was called to the stand in the morning. Before he was asked a question he begged leave to say a few words, and upon being directed to proceed, said:

"The law of combination which affects finance, as everything else, has made syndicates necessary. When I became treasurer of the Mutual Life Insurance Company, the total assets of our company were $100,000,000. The transactions in my department now are over $100,000,000 a year. When our receipts were less 20 years ago—it was quite possible for us to buy from bond dealers and pay the successive profits, but now it is absolutely impossible to buy advantageously large blocks of securities, except as they are floated by these combinations of capital, popularly called syndicates, and we have to go into them to get our investments and get them in sufficient size to get 'ground floor prices.' We could not make our investments without syndicates and we are partners in every syndicate we go into. I want to say further that unless we went into these syndicates we would not be able to invest our funds, except by buying in small quantities and paying the successive profits of middlemen.

Must Use Syndicates.

"I ask you, Mr. Hughes, and the committee, to consider that we have now over $450,000,000 of assets, and while we have over $100,000,000 invested in bonds and mortgages, we are constantly under the necessity of finding additional investments for our large accumulations of funds. This is the condition. It is no theory. It is a condition which we meet and the exhibits are here which show how we have to employ it. Our investments are such that when Mr. Tappen, I suppose about the most widely known and honored bank president in his day in New York died, he left it as a condition this his trustees should have one privilege and that was to invest the same in securities as those of the Mutual Life Insurance Company. That is the way we invested our money, but we could not make the transactions of $100,000,000 a year in the securities bought by this company without using syndicates."

The acknowledgment of personal profits was made in a tabulated statement which was presented to the committee after recess. It showed that Mr. Cromwell had made a personal profit of $26,-371 from syndicate operations during the past five years in which he individually and the Mutual Life Insurance Company had participated.

Pennsylvania Holdings.

Mr. Hughes, chief counsel of the committee immediately took up each item of these syndicate transactions in an effort to ascertain the manner in which these profits were obtained.

An interesting point was brought out when probing a transaction in Pennsylvania railroad 3½ convertibles in which Mr. Cromwell made no personal profit. The witness stated:

"Of course we are greatly interested in

GAZETTE GETS QUICK ACTION

CITIZENS GIVE APPLAUSE

The Gazette gets quick action.

Had an earthquake shaken the walls of the Allegheny arsenal and crumbled them to atoms, Butler street, in front of the military post, could not have been more depopulated than it was last night, following the disclosure of The Gazette in the morning of the disorderly characters which had been permitted to gather there for years.

Along the khaki-uniformed guard paced the grim gateway. His measured step echoed and re-echoed. Occasionally, at intervals of five or ten minutes, a pedestrian would pass hurriedly. From 8 o'clock last evening until after 10 o'clock but one man sat on the arsenal wall. He evidently became so lonesome that he left within five minutes after his arrival. Early in the evening a few girls and women passed in pairs, but there was apparently no attraction and they left shortly after they came.

According to the soldier on guard, a policeman had been in close proximity during the entire day, and last evening between the hours of 8 and 10 an officer paced the front of the arsenal at least a dozen times. He left during the intervals to join another officer at the corner of Thirty-eighth and Butler streets, where the two policemen held a continued consultation with three civilians.

Place Is Depopulated.

One of the lieutenants at the armory, who has been stationed in the arsenal for two years, almost constantly, stated last night that never before in his experience had the street been so depopulated. Other officers attested to the same fact.

When questioned, the guard at the gate stated that every night during the past six months the street had been so occupied between the hours of 8 and 10 o'clock that it was impossible to have walked the square in anything like a continued course.

"Tonight there has been hardly a person around here and I have seen but two men stop. The boys don't know what to make of it, and we haven't heard a loud word around here tonight."

The only soldiers seen outside of the arsenal gate last night between the hours mentioned was the guard on duty at the gate and the two officers who stepped from a street car and entered the arsenal grounds. It has been customary for the soldiers to seat themselves on benches, two in number, which flank the gateway, and which are located in an offset from the sidewalk proper. However, in order to avoid any possible controversy with the rowdies who have been congregating on the sidewalk they have even abandoned the right to use the benches.

That the Lawrenceville public generally, is appreciative of the efforts of The Gazette in ridding the community of disorderly characters whose actions have not only been a menace to reputable women, but which have resulted in two tragic deaths, is attested to, not only by personal congratulations, but also by a number of letters of which the following are examples:

Tells of Assault on Woman.

Lawrenceville, Sept. 13, 1905.

The Pittsburgh Gazette, City.

GENTLEMEN—I cannot help but say amen to the story appearing in today's issue of The Gazette regarding the arsenal loafers. I was born and raised in Lawrenceville and have been in business in this district for the past 20 years. I know that this condition of affairs has been going on for 15 years.

Conditions have been bad enough since the department of the East has log charge of the arsenal but it was 10 times worse during the occupancy of the ordnance department with its handful of old men, about 20 in number.

W. C. T. U. WANTS TO KNOW IF MR. ROOSEVELT ACCEPTS BEER

Did President Roosevelt accept a case of 60 bottles of beer presented by a new brewing company in the west?

This question is asked by the Allegheny County Woman's Christian Temperance union, which was in annual session yesterday. The secretary was instructed to write to Mr. Roosevelt on the subject. He will be asked to explain a recent statement in the newspapers that William Loeb, his secretary, had acknowledged the receipt of the case of 60 bottles of beer sent to the chief executive, the acknowledgment being made on White House stationery.

"We will wait until we hear from the president before taking more decided action on this matter," said Mrs. H. H. Forrest, president of the W. C. T. U., "but if the facts as stated be true, and the president, through his secretary, acknowledged the gift, there will be something doing. Until then we must wait for it may be the president did not know of the gift."

KILGALLON LOSES HIS POSITION; ACQUITTED OF KISSING CHARGE

STAR WITNESS FOR THE ALIBI SPIKES KILGALLON'S DEFENSE

After reading the accounts of the evidence given before the police trial board yesterday, J. S. Doudna, the druggist of Ellsworth and College avenues, East End, who was heralded by the police as a witness who would assist Policeman Kilgallon to prove an alibi, said he had not been quoted correctly. Doudna last night said he did not go to the session of the trial board to prove an alibi for Kilgallon, but he went because he believed the police trial board had authority to subpoena him and force him to be a witness.

Doudna states he told the board that he locked his store at 1:30 on the morning Kilgallon is alleged to have assaulted Mrs. Dick. After moving his tables into the back room and placing his chairs on the counter, he secured a bucket of water and a mop to clean the floor. Then Kilgallon rattled the door and Doudna says he let him in and the officer went to the cellar. This was about 15 minutes after he had locked the door, Doudna says. After a while Kilgallon came up from the cellar and took a chair from the counter and, placing it on the floor, sat down. Doudna said he continued mopping the floor, and after about 20 minutes Kilgallon went out and stood before the show window on the corner of College avenue. After remaining there a few minutes he walked away. Doudna finished his work and closed the store for the night.

From Doudna's store to Ellsworth avenue and Spahr street, where Mrs. Dick alleges Kilgallon accosted her, is about one and a half minutes' walk, but whether Kilgallon went up to that point Doudna doesn't know.

Policeman Establishes Alibi, Saving Credit, but Not His Job.

LOAFS WHILE ON DUTY

Mrs. Dick Trial Brings Out This Fact Which Is Used as Pretext for Decapitation.

CASE IS ENDED, SAYS MOORE

Director Admits Assault Was Committed, but Will Make No Further Attempt to Find Guilty Man—Effort to Shake Evidence of Girl Witness Proves Futile.

Policeman James Kilgallon is no longer on the force. He was "fired" yesterday, but not for assaulting and kissing Mrs. M. B. Dick while near the Ellsworth avenue bridge some time after 2 o'clock in the morning. The Mrs. Dick episode, however, was in every way responsible for the loss of Kilgallon's uniform of blue, for had it not been for evidence adduced during the "kissing" case, the authorities would not have discovered Kilgallon had been "loafing while on duty." This was the reason assigned by Director Moore for dismissing Kilgallon.

Kilgallon's case was sifted by the police trial board yesterday morning. According to the members, an alibi was established for the policeman. One witness, Miss Anna Daley, night chief operator for the Pittsburgh & Allegheny Telephone Company, in its exchange on Spahr street, told of seeing a woman assaulted on the Ellsworth avenue bridge on the night Mrs. Dick said she was the victim of the outrage.

An Alibi for Kilgallon.

This established the fact that there had been an assault, but not that Kilgallon was the assailant. Druggist J. S. Doudna, whose place of business is in College avenue, stated Kilgallon was in his store on the night and at about the time the assault was made. No one ever accused a Pittsburgh policeman of being in two places at the same time, and Kilgallon is not expected to be impunite, even if Mrs. Dick does continue to insist that he is the man who offered her the insult. But Director Moore recognized the evidence of Doudna as conclusive and Kilgallon saved his credit, if not his job.

"If Kilgallon did not assault Mrs. Dick, who did?" Director Moore was asked.

"That is what I want to know," was the reply.

Washes His Hands of It.

"Miss Daley said she saw a policeman assault Mrs. Dick," continued the reporter.

"But she could not say it was Kilgallon," he answered.

"Well, one of Burk' Wallace's policemen assaulted Mrs. Dick. Are you going to find out which one it was?"

"No, we are through with the entire case," was the manner in which the head of the peace party in Pittsburgh shuffled off all further responsibility.

The hearing was a rather interesting one from the fact that two such important witnesses as Miss Daley and Mr. Doudna were to appear. Miss Daley had previously told her story to The Gazette, and her statement yesterday was precisely along the lines previously outlined. Director Moore played attorney and tried to show the young woman where she was mistaken, but even he with all the acumen gained in his experience as a police officer, failed in his purpose.

Doing Duty in Drug Store.

Attorney W. J. Brennen, who was representing Kilgallon, brought forward his heavy interrogatory batteries, but they were spiked when he left the fact, Director Moore grew sharp of tongue, and was rather inclined to upbraid Miss Daley for not telling the police of the affair as soon as she was cognizant of it. In the meantime our chief of police, "Burk" Wallace, sat at the table and contemplated the symmetry of his finger nails.

The testimony of Druggist Doudna established the fact that at a time when Kilgallon should have been on his beat guarding the interests of those citizens for whose safety he was responsible, he was taking things easy in the drug store. He must have been there about 20 minutes, for Doudna's testimony was to the following effect:

Druggist Doudna's Story.

Kilgallon came to my store about 1:30 a. m., and went into the cellar while I attended to the filling of a prescription. He came up shortly afterward and when I closed my place it was about 2:30 o'clock. I don't think that Kilgallon could have been gone for more than 15 minutes.

Director Moore—When he left your store did he go in the direction of the place where the assault was made?

A—He went in the opposite direction or started that way.

Q—Well, you say that he was in your store from about 1:30 to about 2:30. Isn't it something unusual for a policeman to stay in your place that long?

A—Well, I did not notice that it was so long. I will say this much for Kilgallon, that he never asked or begged for a drink of whisky, which at times I was sorry of many persons.

There was then considerable perturbation about the time. Doudna saying that it might have been 10 or 15 minutes from the time of Kilgallon's left before he closed his place of business. At this point Mrs. Dick explained:

"It was between 2 and 2:30 o'clock when he assaulted me," meaning the policeman.

Tells Straightforward Tale.

When Miss Daley was called to the stand there was a decided increase of interest manifested. There was no doubting the truth of her recital. She said:

I went to raise the blinds to the telephone room because the night was warm. I looked out of the window and at that moment I saw a policeman grab a woman. He took hold of her, threw his arms about her and the house entry and then he followed. The officer threw the woman down on the bridge, and I thought he had thrown her over it. The woman screamed and the officer ran up Spahr street.

Director Moore—Is that the officer you

JAPANESE AGITATOR DEVELOPS NEW GRAFT

Gets Up Anti-Peace Demonstration and Charges Admission. Audience Turn Rioters.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

YOKOHAMA, Sept. 13.—The meeting held at a theater yesterday to protest against the terms of the peace treaty was followed by an anti-police demonstration. Fourteen police boxes were burned, 37 policemen injured and two civilians severely hurt. Many arrests were made.

The police say that the meeting was the private speculation of a professional agitator, who charged an admission fee. The promise that there would be popular speakers was unauthorized, according to the police, and the disappointed audience denounced the swindle and demanded the return of their money. The trouble finally developed into rowdyism outside the theater.

At 5 o'clock this morning two companies of troops from Tokyo arrived. They have been posted as guards at all the consulates and other points, and quiet has been restored.

TOKYO, Sept. 13.—According to the metropolitan police estimate of casualties during the recent rioting, 388 constables, 16 firemen and two soldiers were wounded. Among the mob and bystanders nine were killed and 467 were wounded.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 13.—(Special.)—"J. Lee Plummer, Republican candidate for state treasurer, will have a majority of over 100,000 votes at the November election. This figure is extremely conservative and is based upon reliable reports of conditions throughout the state."

Col. W. R. Andrews, Republican state chairman, made this prediction tonight. The chairman did not wish to make an estimate so early in the campaign, but the "Lincoln" party agents are so busy in their exploitation of nightmare figures that he consented to give them a real basis upon which to work.

American Citizens Imprisoned in Nicaragua Are to Be Given Full Protection by Uncle Sam.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—After consultation between the state and navy departments, it has been decided that a warship shall be sent to one of the Costa Rican ports to convey American Minister Merry, at last accounts in San Jose, northward to the nearest point on the coast of Nicaragua or Honduras to the place where Williams S. Albers, an American citizen, and his brother are confined pending a trial on the charge of resisting legal process and of insulting the president of Nicaragua.

The lack of information as to the exact nature of the offense charged against Albers and the possibility of his not receiving a fair trial, have caused an effort to be made to get in closer touch with the prisoner.

CARNEGIE'S TOMBSTONE WILL HAVE A SWEAR WORD

"That's Damned White of Andy" Is to Be the Epigrammatic Epitaph of the Pittsburgh Steel Magnate.

"That's damned white of Andy!"

This is to be the epitaph carved on Andrew Carnegie's tomb. The millionaire Scotchman declares in all seriousness that this expresses the sentiment he likes and he will insist on his wishes being carried out. Just how he reached this conclusion in the matter of his gravestone inscription makes an interesting story—a story that is well known to a number of his Pittsburgh friends.

"And I want the whole word of the qualifying adjective written in full," said Mr. Carnegie. "I want no 'D' and a dash after it. Every letter must be there."

According to the narrative related yesterday by a prominent Pittsburgher who is an intimate friend of Mr. Carnegie, this is how it happened:

John McLuckie, who was burgess of Homestead during the big steel strike of 1892, went to Texas and had a strenuous struggle in earning a livelihood. Several years ago Prof. VanDyke of Rutgers college was traveling through the Lone Star state and chanced to meet Mr. McLuckie. They became fast friends and on returning to the east Prof. VanDyke told Mr. Carnegie of the heroic efforts the former burgess was obliged to make in his striving for success. The steel king's sympathetic heart was touched, and when he finished his story of the Homestead man's adversity, Mr. Carnegie said:

"The next time you see McLuckie, tell him he can have anything he wants."

In the course of a few months Prof. VanDyke had occasion to return to Texas and hastened to deliver the good news.

"No, no," said the modest McLuckie. "I don't want assistance. I'm very much obliged to you, professor, but I'm making good and can continue to do so, if the Lord gives me health."

"Why, the offer comes from Mr. Carnegie," answered Prof. VanDyke.

"That's damned white of Andy!" exclaimed McLuckie.

When Prof. VanDyke repeated the conversation Mr. Carnegie was delighted with the epigram. He clapped his hands and said:

"That sentiment must go on my tombstone. It will surely be my epitaph."

Mr. Carnegie has often told the incident and among his intimate friends the Carnegie epitaph is an open secret.

McLuckie, the author of it, is still in Texas.

saw? pointing at Kilgallon. Officer, stand up straight. Put your feet together.

A.—I cannot say that he is the man. He was a tall man and that is about all I can say.

Q.—How long have you been employed by the telephone company?

A.—About four years.

Q.—How long have you been at the Spahr street exchange?

Could Not Identify Him.

A.—About three years and two months.

Q.—You are quite sure that the officer who assaulted Mrs. Dick is not the regular officer on the beat, on which the assault was made?

A.—I am sure that it was not the regular policeman on the beat.

Q.—When you saw the trouble why did you not notify the police at the time?

A.—We had no connection with the police station.

Q.—You are sure then that you cannot identify the man?

A.—Couldn't identify him except that he had a smooth face.

Q.—How far is the telephone building from the place this assault took place?

A.—About 100 yards.

Q.—Did you tell of the occurrence to anyone?

A.—Yes, I told it to the day operator when she came on, and also to my mother, who advised me not to say anything about it, and not to get mixed up in the affair.

Sure It Was a Policeman.

Q.—Well, how was this story made public?

A.—Through the other operators while I was away on my vacation, and who knew about me seeing the trouble.

Attorney Brennen then began the cross-examination:

Q.—Are you sure that the man who assaulted Mrs. Dick was not a street car motorman or conductor?

A.—I am, indeed. He did not wear that kind of a uniform.

Q.—What kind of a hat did he wear?

"The kind that is worn by policemen?" asked Director Moore, taking the policeman's hat and asking her if that was the style of hat. She nodded that it was.

Mr. Brennen—

Q.—What time did this occur?

A.—It was between 2 and 2:23 in the morning.

Q.—You are sure the man was not a motorman?

A.—He was no motorman, because he carried a mace.

Q.—Where was the policeman when you saw him running?

A.—He was in the middle of the street. He was in Ellsworth avenue, going toward South Highland avenue.

Q.—Why did you not tell of this matter sooner?

A.—Mother did not want me to get any notoriety about the matter.

That's all.

The witnesses filed from the room and the board took up the charges and discussed them.

Acquitted and "Fired."

And shortly after this Kilgallon was acquitted and "fired." Mrs. Dick has preferred charges against him before Alderman Toole, on which he will have a hearing next Tuesday. In the face of his acquittal The Gazette is not going to contend that Kilgallon is guilty, but it is pretty certain that if it had not been for the Dick case Kilgallon would not have been dismissed because of "loafing while on duty."

FIREMEN PROVE POPULAR.

Etna's Indignant Company Is Joined by Other Volunteers and Cheered by Citizens.

Volunteer firemen from three other boroughs joined the Etna Volunteer Fire Company last evening in the parade through that borough to Undercliffe park. The Avalon Volunteer Fire Company, the Citizens Hose Company of Millvale, and the Citizens Hose Company of West Etna were all in line, and the streets along which the procession passed blazed with red fire, in token of the popularity of the Etna organization.

At the park an old-fashioned clambake and cornroast took place, about 1,500 persons being present. Burgess W. E. Johnston and a number of councilmen were present, but there were no speeches.

OUTING REVIVES POLITICAL FEUD

Twentieth Ward Councilmen Will Ask Director Bigelow to Override Mayor Hays.

QUARREL SEVERAL YEARS OLD

The Twentieth ward councilmen recognize Director Bigelow and not Mayor Hays as the real head of the city government. "We will go to Director Bigelow in a day or two and ask his approval of the plan to have the outing at Marshalsea, and if Director Bigelow is in favor of it we will go ahead and make arrangements without consulting the mayor," said Councilman C. W. Helmold yesterday.

"The councilmen can take the matter in their own hands if they wish. The mayor bunkoed us all right. If we had not understood that we were to have the inspection we would have presented the resolution setting a date for the affair as we had intended to do. Now, after the councils meeting is over the mayor again says the outing may not be held. I was not present at the outing last year, but President Ward of common council told me that it was a very orderly affair and that no one was intoxicated."

"I discouraged the idea of the inspection because I can't see any use in it," said the mayor yesterday. "It has not been an inspection for a good many years, but simply an excursion and good time for the councilmen. If councilmen want to go to the city farm they can go out there any time."

Councilmen indignantly resent the reflection cast upon them by the mayor, stating that there might be a carousal at the city farm if an outing is held. They particularly resent the mayor's dictum that outsiders shall be barred on the grounds that there might be too free an indulgence in beer and whisky. It has been the custom to invite city officials and a number of private citizens besides the councilmen, and this is the class that the mayor refers to as "outsiders." They were the personal guests of Director Clark, and the reflection of the mayor cast on them is regarded by Director Clark's friends as an aspersion upon the director.

The Twentieth ward councilmen are hopeful that Director Bigelow will sustain them, because when the matter was mentioned to Director Bigelow on Monday, he replied: "I am for anything that Clark wants."

The friends of Director Clark say that the mayor's action in prohibiting the outing is due to a personal animosity of the mayor against the director of charities, dating from the time that Mayor Hays acted as secretary of the Citizens city committee and Clark was secretary of the county committee. They say that Director Clark displayed more political acumen than Hays and was favored with the full confidence of the late Thomas S. Bigelow regarding the conduct of campaigns. This, they claim, aroused the envy of Hays and was partially responsible for Clark not receiving the appointment of director of public safety which he had been promised by T. S. Bigelow.

FILE MOTION TO QUASH BROOKS' INDICTMENTS

Counsel for School Principal Spring a Surprise—Doctor Again Under Arrest.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

UNIONTOWN, Sept. 13.—Counsel for Dr. Hoff Brooks, the school principal charged with embezzlement, today presented motions in the court to quash the array of petit and grand jurors drawn for the September term of court and also to quash the three indictments against Brooks.

The counsel avers that the jurors were drawn by the coroner, instead of the sheriff, which action is claimed not to have been legal. The drawing was done by order of the court, as the sheriff was in Europe after Brooks at the time of the drawing.

Dr. Brooks, who has been out on bail, was arrested on another information today and placed in jail. The information was made by J. Frank Beatty of Greensburg, who charges the doctor with obtaining $100 under false pretenses. The turn of affairs today created quite a surprise among local people.

Rock Point Park Stockholders Vote on Plan to Provide Additional Attractions Next Year.

At a meeting yesterday afternoon of the stockholders of the Rock Point Amusement Company it was voted to increase the capital stock of the company from $50,000 to $75,000. The purpose of this is to enable the company to install for next season a number of new features. President James G. Sansom leaves today for New York and other eastern cities to secure new attractions for the park next year.

The reports submitted yesterday showed a total of 86,127 people at the park on railroad tickets during the season—a figure never before equalled by a railroad park in Western Pennsylvania. The company has earned a very good dividend, which will be declared at the stockholders' meeting to be held Tuesday, October 3.

RESENTED BY PLUMMER.

Republican Candidate for State Treasurer and Lincoln Party Leader Have Warm Altercation.

HOLLIDAYSBURG, PA., Sept. 13.—(Special.)—J. Lee Plummer, the Republican nominee for state treasurer, and Oliver H. Hewitt, a Lincoln party leader, are neighbors. Philadelphia newspapers published the statement that Mr. Hewitt, in a speech delivered at the Lincoln party convention in that city last Monday, assailed the moral character of Mr. Plummer.

Mr. Hewitt, claiming that he had been misquoted, called at Mr. Plummer's office this morning to explain. A warm altercation occurred between the two men, which terminated in the Lincoln party leader being ordered out of the office. The publication of the groundless charge against Mr. Plummer is deplored by all townspeople, irrespective of party.

from a car at Fortieth and Butler streets and assaulted at 10:30 o'clock on a Saturday night, right under the glare of the big corner electric light, and not a policeman in sight. I do not take the part of the soldiers, but they cannot be held to blame for the conditions that exist.

Keep the outside loafer, and thug, and immoral women and girls away, and the question will soon be solved. On the side streets at both Butler street corners of the wall, 10 to 15 loafers are permitted to gather every night, howling, cursing, and swearing with the full knowledge of the very men (the policemen), who are making such a fuss about the soldiers. Frequently word has been sent to the higher powers, but without avail. Your story has been the only true account of the state of affairs as they exist yet published and I can have this substantiated by the respectable people of the Fifteenth, Sixteenth and Seventeenth wards. Do not publish my name unless absolutely necessary as I am in business near the armory and am compelled to exist in the midst of the rowdies that infest the neighborhood.

Powerless to Secure Relief.

Pittsburgh, Sept. 13, 1905.

The Pittsburgh Gazette, City:

GENTLEMEN—Thanks, thanks, Pittsburg Gazette! It is possible that the people of the Seventeenth ward are to be relieved of the lowest loafers and most despicable human pests that ever disgraced a community? For the past 15 years we have done everything that we could to drive them away. No relief could we get from the police department. The police paid no attention to our pleadings. We have made complaints upon complaints, but to no purpose, and we began to think they regarded their occupation as gone if they interfered with that element.

No respectable woman could pass the Arena Hall after nightfall. To my personal knowledge these loafers have not worked for years. The police know this and still people wonder at the continuation of crime in this neighborhood. Conditions have been such that no decent woman could pass through the Seventeenth ward at night, and that this ward has become the nest of dangerous loafers is known to all the respectable residents. The soldier need not be blamed for the conditions that exist.

TAKING BIDS HERE FOR NEW STRUCTURAL PLANT

New York State Steel Company of Buffalo, With A. L. Schultz of Pittsburgh as Vice President, Has Big Plans.

Bids are now being taken in Pittsburgh for the erection and equipment of a structural steel plant to be built at Buffalo, which will rank with the most modern in its design and methods of operation, and will be of sufficient size to make it an important factor in the steel trade.

The company to own the plant has been incorporated under the name of the New York State Steel Company, capital $1,000,000. The capital is mainly subscribed by Buffalo capitalists, but an interest is held by A. L. Schultz of Pittsburgh, who will be vice president and general manager of the company. The president will be Spencer Kellogg, the well-known Buffalo manufacturer. Stuart R. Mann will be secretary and treasurer. The directors are will include several gentlemen prominently identified with Buffalo interests, and it is expected that friendly relations will be found with several railroads entering that city.

The company has secured a site of upward of 75 acres, near the Lackawanna Steel Company's plant in South Buffalo, on the Buffalo river. The site allows for expansion to at least treble the initial plant, which will have a capacity of from 20,000 to 30,000 tons per annum of fabricated material ready for erection.

In addition to bridge and general structural work, it is probable that the company will give attention to steel barges for the Erie ship canal and possibly lake vessels for the ore trade. Mr. Schultz, while with the old Schultz Bridge and Iron Company of McKees Rocks, later absorbed by the American Bridge Company, was the original designer of steel barges now being made by the American company for the river trade.

SYNDICATES LAST RESORT

the Pennsylvania railroad. I might say we are the heaviest stockholders."

Answering Mr. Hughes, Mr. Cromwell said the holdings of the Mutual Life in the Pennsylvania railroad was $5,000,000 par. Among these transactions, the connection of trust companies with the Mutual Life was brought out when it was stated that the $1,000,000 subscription to a Japanese loan was shared by the United States Mortgage & Trust Company and the Guarantee Trust Company. In explaining this relation Mr. Cromwell said:

We gave these opportunities to the trust companies in which we held large interests, for very good reasons. As I explained this morning we, as an insurance company, need very large banking facilities for very large interests.

It goes without saying it is better for us to use our own companies rather than give to institutions with which we have no connection, the handling of our large investments. For this reason we put men into the directorate of these subsidiary companies to look after the interests of the Mutual. They are not there for the profit of the interest on the policy we share they have to hold, but to protect the Mutual. It is natural we should wish to put in as directors of these companies the same men as are on the board of the Mutual. I have no shares in these companies as a director, but I have never made any secret of it.

The result of our connection with these companies is that in [illegible] we have made through them a profit of $4,000,000 for the policyholders. If we had not these institutions we should have to turn the Mutual Life into a banking institution as well as a life insurance company. This we could not do.

This being the state of the case, it is natural we should help these subsidiary institutions to make money and should thereby opportunities in their way. The men we put in them are not there for their own profit. They never got a dollar out of the Mutual personally and every cent they make through these trust companies and banks for the Mutual is for the policyholders and the policyholders alone.

Just before closing the inquiry for the day Mr. Hughes said:

"We had some talk this morning in connection with another insurance company of joint accounts. Have you any of these?"

"No, sir; we have not and never have had," replied Mr. Cromwell. "We have no partners in our investments—that is, any investments we make are made by the Mutual Life, and what is done for the Mutual Life is done for the policyholders."

Questioned further on this line Mr. Cromwell excepted the syndicate transactions.

"Have you any non-ledger assets?" queried Mr. Hughes.

"We have two, one for $11,000 and another for $800. We have a memorandum of them with the finance committee, but they are not counted as assets. They are some shares that have no face value at present and we are holding them for any result that may accrue."

Mr. Cromwell said the Mutual had never, before these two questionable assets, held any non-ledger securities within the past 21 years.

The session closed with Mr. Cromwell still on the stand.

WIFE BREAKS DOWN IN COURT ROOM

Mrs. Taggart Completely Collapses Under Scathing Speech of Attorney.

CASE IS WITH THE JUDGE

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

WOOSTER, O., Sept. 16.—For the first time during the long trial of the Taggart divorce case, Mrs. Taggart broke down and went this morning, while undergoing a severe arraignment by Attorney Stirling. The trial came to an end this afternoon and Judge Eason announced to the large crowd present that he would render his decision in a week or 10 days. The day was occupied by Attorney Stirling and Capt. Taylor in their arguments. This morning Attorney Stirling took up the events of the night of June 30. The important witnesses to those events are Emma and Mrs. Taggart. Stirling said in part:

Now, don't your honor know that both these women have committed perjury nearly a hundred times in this case? Capt. Poore says he heard Emma's cries for help that night. Now, he is either an unspeakable coward or as big a liar as Emma. Instead of going to the woman's rescue he goes home and as he testifies he slept peaceably all night and waited until the next morning for Mrs. Taggart to telephone him, before he tried to find out whether she was dead or not. I want to call your attention to the torn clothing exhibited here. Some one has taken it and with their fingers torn it into strips; it could never have been born into that shape any other way. Now, your honor, I want you to read that part of Mrs. Moore's deposition where she tells of Mrs. Taggart's slumming expedition and if you can do it, without blushing, I shall be surprised. The only charge of drunkenness made in this whole trial is by Dr. Voss, who has sat here and smoked cigarets in the court room every recess. He says Taggart was drunk in Nagasaki at the time when he bought $3,200 worth of finery for his home.

Stirling then took up the matter of the custody of the children, advocating that they either be given to the captain or to his parents at Orrville. The sobs of Capt. Taggart mingled with those of Mrs. Taggart, who broke down utterly. After the morning recess Capt. J. E. Taylor began his argument in answer to Mr. Stirling. He said:

The jealous man is always seeking after some trifles and magnifying them into important acts and you will see that in the captain's actions in Manila and at Fort Leavenworth, when that jealousy became fired by drink, the man becomes a raging brute. Newberry spoke very highly of Mitchell, the officer who called on Mrs. Taggart to engage dances at Manila. I don't like the peacock strut of this captain.

It was indiscreet to have a man like Fortesque call at his house. On the night of June 30 the captain had four whiskies over at the club and loaded like that he comes home fired with jealousy first and liquor afterward. He scares Emma to stay in bed by telling her a lot of drunken men are coming. If there were four empty glasses on the table in the parlor, I have no doubt but that he drank their contents himself.

Judge Eason said: "Lieut. Fortesque is the most important figure in this case up to the last hour at Fort Leavenworth, and before I decide this case I want as much light as you can give me on his actions."

HAUGHTY SOPHOMORES ISSUE STERN WARNING

Lay Down Law to the Freshmen as to Their Deportment During the Coming Year.

Rules regulating the members of the Freshman class during the coming school year at the Western University of Pennsylvania have just been completed by the class, which during the last year had its freshness rubbed off by doing stunts the Sophomores, whose places they have taken this year. The following rules and penalties are prescribed for the freshman who gets gay, and are printed in bold type on large bills, which have been freely distributed:

OYEZ! OYEZ!

All ye wretched apologies and miserable subterfuges appropriately denominating yourselves and particularly well described as

"FRESH"

Hark to the commands and ordinances of your rightful and dominant superiors

THE CLASS OF 1908

These be the rules by which you must and shall conduct yourselves throughout the year of your verdancy, under penalty of being sick, sore, lame, diseased, distressed and disordered to wit: By spankings, corrections, castigations and numerous and similar degradations, if indeed it be possible further to degrade you from your present state of infantile inferiority.

I. Fresh hibernating in the gym must attire themselves in corduroy panties and little black caps, but must not be seen elsewhere wearing said postage stamps for fear of exposing to the elements what little of gray matter common report states they possess.

II. Fresh must on all occasions doff their caps to upper class men, especially to sophomores, and make at their discretion as graceful an obeisance as their awkward body permits.

III. Fresh are prohibited from adorning themselves with pipes, canes, and prep school caps and the Old Glory and Blue.

IV. Fresh who are mild, tender and retiring, and prefer the solitary precincts of the Shop to the ennobling proximity of the Sophomores, will be tendered an informal but vivifying reception upon their emergence.

V. Fresh under penalty of severe punishment must never be guilty of fussing with the Fair Co-Eds, and they must understand that they are the distinct prey of the upper class men.

Any breach of the above rules will result in condign and inevitable punishment, fitting to the crime, without resort to, or protection from the Juvenile Court.

LABOR OPPOSES COCHRANE.

Iron City Trades Council Urges Union Men Not to Vote for Him for County Recorder.

The Iron City Trades council, composed of labor unions affiliated with the American Federation of Labor, yesterday issued a circular addressed to union labor, urging union workingmen not to support Robert K. Cochrane, who is a candidate for the Republican nomination for county recorder. The letter charges that Mr. Cochrane has "always been antagonistic to organized labor."

The committee on vacancies of the Citizens party's county committee organized yesterday by electing Mayor Hays chairman and James W. Clark, director of the department of public charities, secretary.

The Republican Association of Pittsburgh, located at 248 Frankstown avenue, has elected as delegates to attend the meeting of the Pennsylvania State League of Republican clubs, to be held in Easton, Joseph L. Wright and John F. McClelland. The alternates are J. Albert Odell, A. H. Edwards and William G. Gizh.

Prominent Boniface Dies.

MEADVILLE, PA., Sept. 13.—William D. Rider, proprietor of the Hotel Rider, Cambridge Springs, died at noon today of acute indigestion, after an illness of three days. Mr. Rider came to Cambridge Springs from Franklin in 1890, and bought and operated the Hotel Riverside until 1896. When he began building the Rider, which he opened in April, 1897, and of which he became sole owner July of the present year. The Hotel Rider cost nearly $250,000, and is one of the best-known all-year resort hotels in the country. Mr. Rider leaves his widow and five sons.

Delinquents Must Pay Tax.

All milk dealers who have not paid their annual tax of $1 by tomorrow will be sued by Samuel Adler, meat and milk inspector for this district. Adler says there are about 700 milk dealers in this city and only 200 of them have paid their milk taxes for 1906. The date for making payment expired September 1, but the date was extended to September 15, to give all an opportunity to pay up.

Independent Telephone Officers and Backers of Others Cities Pay Visit to This City.

ARE GUESTS OF THE P. & A.

As guests of the Pittsburgh & Allegheny Telephone Company, a party of 15 of the leading officers and backers of independent telephone companies in St. Louis, Kansas City, Indianapolis and Cleveland spent yesterday in Pittsburgh, and were given an idea of the business done here by the "P. & A."

Statements that the trip contemplated a merger of independent companies in the immediate future were published yesterday, but are without foundation, according to the members of the party.

"Our trip to Pittsburgh is to see for ourselves the independent plant here, and we are greatly pleased with the results which the Pittsburgh & Allegheny company has achieved in the few years of their work," said Breckenridge Jones. "We do not plan at present a merger into one large company, but we do propose to bring the independent companies throughout the country into closer touch with each other in every way and complete the work already well under way of linking together the big cities and affording excellent long-distance service."

Mr. Jones is vice president and counsel of the Mississippi Valley Trust Company, director of the Union Electric Light and Power and the Laclede Gas Companies and treasurer of the Kinioch Telephone Company, all of St. Louis. As a banker with investments in the telephone field he is actively interested in independent telephony.

Standardizing Equipment.

"Already we have done much toward giving this united service," said Mr. Jones. "For over a year a joint agent, Mr. Clapp, with authority to inspect all the plants in the six cities, Kansas City, St. Louis, Indianapolis, Cleveland, Louisville and Pittsburgh, has been at work. His task is to bring to uniformity the equipment where necessary and to see that the right connections are made between the cities. It is necessary in some cases to stretch heavier copper wires for instance. This Mr. Clapp finds, and the work is done.

"It is not even desirable, at present at least, to amalgamate all the companies into one concern, for by so doing it would be inevitable that we should lose much of the support which has been the making of the independent telephone business. There are today 2,500,000 independent telephones as against 2,000,000 Bell telephones. The growth of the independent movement is more rapid, because there is behind it local capital in each city and the influence which the local interest can give. We can, however, strengthen each company by the standardization of equipment, by the construction of the right connections and by the education of the investing public in the value of telephone securities. This we propose to do."

Had Busy Day Here.

The party reached Pittsburgh at 10:30 a. m. yesterday, having come from Rochester in a special train. There they visited the plant of the Stromberg-Carlson Manufacturing Company and business of much importance was transacted. They were joined in that city by President J. G. Splane and others of the P. & A. Upon arriving here the party was taken in the private car Duquesne of the Pittsburgh Railways Company to the Orchard, Main, Park and East exchanges and luncheon was served at the Country club. A number of short addresses were made there. They left at 3 o'clock in the private car Idlewild for Louisville, to spend today. Tomorrow they go to Indianapolis and thence to St. Louis.

The members of the party yesterday were as follows:

St. Louis—Breckenridge Jones, C. Marquard Forster, president of Kinloch Long Distance Telephone Company, and vice president St. Louis Brewing association; William T. Nolker, president Kinloch Telephone Company; H. Linton Reber, general manager Kinloch Telephone Company; W. Roy McCanne, assistant general manager Kinloch Long Distance Telephone Company; W. G. Lackey, bond officer, Mississippi Valley Trust Company; Herman C. Stifel, Altheimer & Rullings Investment Company; Adolphus Busch, president Anheuser-Busch Brewing Company.

Kansas City—Joseph F. Helm, president Kansas City Home Telephone Company and president Helm Brewing Company; O. C. Snider, general manager Kansas City Home Telephone Company.

Beatty, president Manufacturers Light and Heat Company; William Flinn, D. P. Reighard, director P. & A. Telephone Company; John S. Weller, vice president and general counsel P. & A. Telephone Company; R. H. Binns, director P. & A. Telephone Company; Ralph E. Flinn, director P. & A. Telephone Company; H. M. Nichols, president Citizens bank, Oil City; N. G. COUNTRY NEEDS NATIONAL HIGHWAY, WATSON SAYS

After covering 5,300 miles in an automobile in his tour of Europe, Attorney D. T. Watson, who was accompanied by his wife, believes the United States government should build a national highway, 60 feet wide from ocean to ocean. France has such a highway, said Mr. Watson, and it is kept in repair by the provinces, which are similar to townships in this country. With branch roads leading to the capitol seat of each state, Mr. Watson believes the road would become very popular and do as much good for the country as anything the government could undertake. Good roads in France have proved a boon for the small towns, he said, for as high as 100 automobiles stop at the country hotels in a day for dinner, and the tourists always purchase something while in the town. Americans are their principal patrons.

HAS NOT CALLED RESERVES.

Norway Denies She Is Mobilizing Troops. Outlook for the Negotiations Is Gloomy.

CHRISTIANIA, Sept. 13.—A semi-official denial is given tonight to the statement printed in the Dagblad of Stockholm, today, that the second and sixth year classes of the Norwegian conscription have been mobilized. It is said only a few of the guards of the Norwegian army near the frontier have been called to arms.

A dispatch from Karlstad to the Aftenposten says a feeling of depression prevails as to the outcome of the negotiations and that the attitude of the Swedish commissioners regarding the fortifications has grown stronger. The dispatch says it is hoped, however, that a modus vivendi will be reached after the signing of a treaty of arbitration.

M'STAY AGAIN REDUCED.

Once Acting Superintendent of Police Is Now Filling Position on Patrol Wagon.

Bernard McStay, once in charge of the police department of the city, and a former friend of Director Moore, yesterday was reduced in the ranks. After acting superintendent of police he was made inspector. Then he was reduced to a desk sergeant and yesterday Moore ordered him put on a patrol wagon.

McStay is charged with sending a gang of Fifth ward voters into the Sixth ward to vote against Select Councilman Hermes two years ago. McStay denies this, but Mayor Hays and Director Moore never forgave him.

Lieut. H. J. Alt of the South Thirteenth street station house yesterday was promoted to captain to succeed Capt. John Fredericks, resigned. Charles McAfee, a special officer, was promoted to lieutenant.

The Pennsylvania Railroad Company has placed a watchman at the dangerous Fourth street crossing in Braddock, which has been the scene of countless casualties and many fatalities in recent years. Two watchmen have been assigned to duty, one for day time and one for night.

CORTLAND, N. Y., Sept. 16.—Three young civil engineers in the employ of the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western railroad were killed by a work train tonight while returning to Cortland on a handcar. They were: H. O. Biesecker of Lestershire, N. Y., and J. R. Funk and J. M. Rowe of Binghamton, N. Y.

It Is Not Too Early to Talk Furs.

Last year was a great fur year—the coming season promises to be greater. White furs and chinchilla will perhaps be the most popular because they have received the approval of the English royal family, which to a degree dominates fur fashions on both sides of the ocean.

We put twice as much money into furs this year as last, securing many rarely fine skins such as seldom come to Pittsburg. But we did not lose sight of the inexpensive things, as we have neat little neckpieces to offer for $6.50.

Select your furs now and here, and you will save an average 25 per cent of season prices.

With such an incentive to take up the matter it is not too early to talk furs. We stand back of the quality, the work, and the wear of all furs that we sell, so you are assured satisfaction in the fullest degree.

Thursday, September 14, 1905.

There were no loafers about the arsenal last evening. The expose in The Gazette of conditions in that quarter the evening before had a good effect. It is well if the reform continues, but it is a harsh commentary on the police administration of the city that exposures of this sort are necessary to secure peace and order.

Once again the Japanese have improved on western methods. An anti-peace riot in Yokohama is charged as a private speculation of a professional agitator. He advertised a meeting in a church, charging admission, a disgusted audience demanded return of its money and the riot followed. The Japanese have the honor of originating the riot show.

Minister Powell has resigned his post in Haiti. He declares he has tempted fate long enough in that island of pestilential fevers and worse revolutions, in the service of his country. Mr. Powell has been a particularly active and faithful representative, and his resignation must be regretted. His place will not be easy to fill.

President Roosevelt takes occasion to deny the authenticity of an interview, printed in a Paris newspaper, and at the same time to teach the correspondent a wholesome lesson in professional ethics. This French newspaper man resorted to deception to secure an audience with the president, and then sent his paper an interview that never occurred. There are a few American reporters equal to such a feat, but they are fortunately few, and, we hope, becoming fewer.

David T. Watson, Esq., has returned from France an earnest advocate of a national road, extending from Atlantic to Pacific. Mr. Watson has fallen in love with Napoleon's roads in France, more than with the Appian way. Very good. This country does need good roads, and before it is as old or populous as France will have them. Doubtless a government example on the scale suggested by Mr. Watson would prove a powerful influence toward the desired end.

By the terms of the armistice arranged between the Japanese and Russian commanders in the field, further hostilities will be prevented until the peace treaty is finally disposed of. The protocol is simple enough in its provisions, with the exception of one article, referring to maritime seizures. That article appears to continue the Japanese right to capture military supplies, at sea, consigned to Russia. It may mean much or little.

Another strike threatens unhappy Chicago, the city of perennial trouble. The union freight handlers demand a 10 per cent increase in wages and recognition of their union, with the alternative offered the railroads of a general strike. It would seem as if the outcome of the teamsters' strike, still an unpleasant memory, should cause a lull in the striking industry in Chicago, but there are some persons who never will learn from the experience of others where trouble lies. Possibly the extreme pliability of the municipal executive backbone has something to do with Chicago's state of chronic unrest. The most unfortunate feature of such a strike as is threatened is the amount of suffering inflicted upon innocent persons, not only those of the business world who are affected by the temporary cessation of freight movement, but the wives and children of the voluntarily idle who are deprived of the necessities of life when the weekly wage is cut off.

An encouraging report of the Peary polar expedition is that brought by Dr. Frederick Schon, surgeon of the auxiliary steamer Erik, who has returned to this country. Commander Peary's fear, expressed in his telegram of August 15, that the ice in Smith sound would prevent his immediate advance and the establishment of a base at Cape Sabine, seems not to have been realized. Dr. Schon says shortly after Peary's departure the ice broke and much open water was visible between Littleton island and Cape Sabine. Twelve hours later, from the top of a high mountain, no sign of the Roosevelt could be seen, though the weather was clear, which gives rise to the supposition Peary has taken advantage of favorable conditions to push forward boldly. It is gratifying to Commander Peary's numerous supporters and well-wishers to know he has made at least a successful start, with the elements favoring his commendable enterprise.

A Discreditable Situation.

No luster has been added to the reputation of the Pittsburgh bureau of police by the Kilgallon case. The officer has been discharged from the force as one "unfit" for the duties of a patrolman. The police superintendent has made it plain by his statements after the trial that he does not regard Kilgallon guilty on the charge preferred against him, and leaves the inference the assault must have been perpetrated by another man. The testimony leaves no room to doubt that Mrs. Dick was assaulted by a policeman in uniform.

No one need be told the enormity of the offense—that is self-evident. The fact that an officer of the law in uniform violated the law in an extremely offensive manner casts a shadow on the force. It is more discreditable, however, that during the two weeks since this charge was made the superintendent, acting through his force, has made no apparent effort to discover the identity of the guilty man, nor to uncover witnesses to the act. An efficient police bureau should have discovered the witness found by The Gazette, before The Gazette did so. An efficient bureau should also be able to say positively which of its members was guilty of the crime committed, instead of offering the indefinite plea that the officer tried on a specific charge is guilty of other violations of the police rules.

This matter cannot rest where it is. If the officer dismissed yesterday, principally because he is alleged to have spent the time in a drug store while an assault was committed on an adjoining beat, is not guilty, then the policeman who is guilty remains on the force, wears the uniform which should inspire confidence in the citizen in need of protection, is in a position to repeat the offense. If that be true, no woman is safe on the street, alone, for she not only lacks the protection provided by law, but is menaced by that legal protector.

It is not for The Gazette to say who committed the assault complained of. It was committed. It was committed by a man wearing the uniform and insignia of a policeman, and carrying a policeman's mace. That makes of it a most serious matter. The case is not settled and cannot be settled until the public knows the guilty man has been dealt with as he deserves. It is up to the superintendent of police to show this has been done, or to admit his inability to conduct his bureau as it should be conducted.

Insurance Scandals.

Testimony before the New York legislative committee relieves the isolation of the much-probed Equitable Life. Yesterday Frederic Cromwell of the Mutual Life went into an exhaustive defense of the "syndicate," at the same time admitting large personal profits from such operations. The day before Edmund D. Randolph of the New York Life reluctantly admitted shady transactions and deliberate deception of the state insurance department. It thus appears the Equitable was sinning in bad company.

These later revelations are less surprising than the Equitable disclosures of last spring, merely because the Equitable was first to be dissected. These are no less sensational, but the public has been prepared for the shock. In all, the big life insurance companies are showing a line of frenzied finance that is far from pleasing. They are solvent—this is more a fortunate circumstance than a result of good management—some of them have large sums to divide with policyholders, but all of them appear to have been run for the private profit of managers rather than for the exclusive benefit of the people who have entrusted to them the protection of their families. The exposure is wholesome. It should be followed by regulation that will make queer management impossible in the future.

The Science of Noses.

Persons with noses of classic mold and size will be interested in nasography, the new science which is engaging the attention of Vienna savants. The study of the nose as an indication of character is not founded upon frivolous theories incapable of proof. Sufficient is known concerning the noses of distinguished men and women who have gone before, to furnish data for the principles of this new science. The long noses of Caesar and Napoleon are regarded as indicative of their military genius. The noses of criminals addicted to violence and of pugilists are shown to be of the "pug" variety. But, for the reassurance of young mothers, it is stated that this rule has its exceptions, and that many a pug-nosed infant grows up to be a credit to its parents. The more enthusiastic nasographists believe their science will be of great assistance in the detection of criminals. Before his contemplated crime is committed, the would-be murderer can be placed under restraint. The savants do not say how they will avoid sometimes arresting the wrong man and placing a perfectly innocent person behind the bars, nor whether they advocate life imprisonment for the man who merely looks as if he wanted to kill somebody, but these are minor questions to be settled later. It is probable that the man who was locked up because he had a snub nose would kill a savant or two when he got out, and thus prove the scientists' contention that he would do murder if given a chance.

We hardly believe nasography has the glorious future that has been predicted by enthusiasts, but supposing there is something in it, why should its usefulness be confined simply to the detection of criminals? Will it not also discover budding geniuses, unknown poets, born musicians, and bring them into the glare of publicity? The man with a musical nose, who is running a street car, will be invited to take his proper place at the piano and let his hair grow. The girl with the poetical nose will be persuaded to exchange the mop for the fountain pen. The possibilities of nasography are limited only by the boundaries of the imagination, and the savants who think they see something in this new science are doubtless not deficient in fancy.

A Fair System.

There is an apparent effort to impugn the openness of the Republican primaries to be held on Saturday. One announced candidate withdrew, expressing some doubt. He may or may not have announced for that purpose. His case is made to serve as a text for the silliest sort of deductions. The facts are that any person qualified under the rules of the party may announce as a candidate. Beyond that it is purely a question of votes. No one can prevent a voter voting for whom he pleases. The man who gets the most votes will win.

It is easy enough to say a leader or leaders have driven a man off the ticket. It is not so easy to do such a thing. There is no power vested in any man or set of men to put a candidate out of the race. It is true a leader may have strong influence with a number of voters, and they may, if they choose, follow him in support of a certain candidate. That is the essence of leadership. Yet he cannot compel any man to vote for a candidate the voter does not desire to support.

These are absolutely fair conditions. They duplicate the conditions of general elections, and contain the essentials of popular government. Majority rule is supreme. The trouble with the objectors is they realize this system is so far superior to the Citizens oligarchy and the Democratic one-man power, dictating nominations, there is no hope for them. The Republican party is the party of the people.

Instructive Details.

While it is understood the Chinese boycott on American wares is subsiding, interesting light is thrown on its development by Associated Press correspondence from Shanghai, dated a month ago. It appears an interview with former Minister Conger and a specific case of ill-treatment in Boston served to greatly inflame the Chinese mind and threatened to incite a general anti-foreign demonstration.

There is more than one phase of this development worth noting. First, is the illustration of the close communication of the world today, that enables China to know of happenings in America almost the next hour. Second, is the sensitiveness of Chinese individuals to a slighting opinion of their race. These things destroy a too prevalent impression in this country that China is steeped in black ignorance, and that the Chinese has neither patriotism nor pride. This correspondence is instructive as to the intimate relationship of nations, drawn together by the electric telegraph, the newspaper and the fast steamship.

An unknown correspondent, who uses good stationery and signs himself "Disgust," writes as follows:

Kindly tell us who are the "common people" of our country. Of whom do you predicate rotundness?

The common people, so often referred to by Abraham Lincoln, comprise ninety-nine one-hundredths of all American citizens outside the lunatic asylums and prisons. Of them, The Gazette said, they are "grown round with fatness." They are prosperous, they are living better than any other people in the world, bless them, because they are living in a land of unparalleled resources, under a most beneficent form of government. They are "the" people.

A PREACHMENT BY THE QUIET OBSERVER

Bearing on the Great Question of How to Suppress the Bad Boy.

By ERASMUS WILSON.

If there were no bad boys there would be hardly any bad men.

No doubt you will agree to that, and in the same breath ask how the bad boy can be cut out.

If you are a believer in the doctrine that some are born to be bad, and to go from bad to worse until they drop into the pit, you will be hard to convince that it is possible to eliminate the bad boy.

To do so it will be necessary to revise our rules, and to recast our methods relating to boys generally. This will not be accomplished in a day, nor in a year, for there are too many who are so set in their ways that they cannot be moved to take up new lines of thought or action.

One of the first things will be to lead people to believe that boys are boys, and as such they are very much alike, and may be made to grow up much alike as far as tastes and manners are concerned.

Then it will be necessary to devise ways and means by which boys can be given uniform environment and training during infancy, for it is during this period that the boy acquires tastes and manners that can never be eliminated, or at least, hardly ever.

Next comes the period extending from infancy to adolescence, which is the period in which taste and disposition are practically fixed, and these are most important factors in the development of character. This is well expressed in that oft-quoted line, "As the twig is bent the tree's inclined."

* * *

One of the greatest defects in our system of schooling is that the matter of shaping character is put off so long that a boy becomes so set in his ways that teachers, books and home influences can make but little change in those tastes and habits which are commonly termed second nature.

It is during the early formative period that involuntary habits and manners are established. The boy indulges in these without thinking, and in most instances he continues them without thinking until he reaches man's estate, and many go without thinking until they die.

Character in a boy is worth more, many times more, than the knowledge of arithmetic, grammar and geography he acquires in his early years at school, for without character his knowledge will be of very little use to him.

And yet our big school men continue to insist upon teachers pounding this abstract and more or less distasteful knowledge into the heads of boys regardless of their state of culture.

* * *

It used to be held, and is yet to an unwarrantable extent, that parents are responsible for the moral and social culture of their children.

That would be all right if all parents were competent to train them as they should be. But not having been so trained and cultured themselves, they don't even see the necessity for it, much less feel that it is their duty to look carefully after the moral culture of their children.

Such parents as these will have to die before very rapid progress can be made in the matter of developing character in children.

Haven't you noticed that men of fine character were, almost without exception, well-reared boys? And haven't you also noticed that these men give their mothers the greatest share of credit for shaping and developing their characters?

If every mother were a good mother, gentle and refined and loving, there would be fewer bad boys, and correspondingly more good men.

* * *

We have been devoting so much time and energy to the development of business enterprise that there hasn't been much left to devote to the betterment of the boy, and his sister, so that each succeeding generation might be better fathered and mothered, thus lifting the race to higher, lovelier and happier planes.

But how is this to be done?

Well, it will have to be done somehow or else human progress will cease and the race lapse into a decline.

We can do this great work, but you can't, and they won't. We alone can do it. We, the people, you know, possess the sum of human power, therefore, we are able to do all things, anything in reason.

We, the people, must, therefore, get together on this matter of practical education. And in order that we get together in good form we must have a leader, a born leader, who can so command that all will follow, and follow willingly.

There are voices crying in the wilderness and prophesying that the desired leader is coming, and is already near.

* * *

Among those who have been raised up to befriend and to help the race to better things, Luther Burbank is one of the latest and he has been cheerfully accepted—accepted on account of his wonderful work rather than on account of his flow of words.

His achievements in improving fruits, flowers, trees and vegetables are simply marvelous. He also has some ideas concerning the improvement of the race of man which are worthy of careful attention. In a recent talk on the subject, he said:

"In my work with flowers and plants and trees I have been led naturally to analogous problems. Man has always figured in my calculations, and as the human species in the highest type of life I could not escape the conclusion that as long as plant life could be controlled by human hands mankind might likewise be subjected to similar influences and the race similarly improved. I did not go out of my way to form these deductions. They came sharply and quickly and naturally and are as much a part of my study today as the production of rare fruits and flowers.

"If we hope for an improvement of the human race we must begin with the child, as the child responds more readily to environment than any creature in existence. The change may come in the first generation, and it may not. It may not show at all for many generations, but patience and constant attention will finally reap the reward, and the fruit will be more than worth while. When the test has been made successfully and the product attained it will be a survival of the most beautiful, the most precious or the fittest, whichever you may wish to call it.

"The two forces to be considered in reproduction are heredity and environment. A great force is necessary to change the aspect of metals. Great heat of electricity or some such powerful influence must be brought to bear upon them. A less potent influence will work a complete change in plant life. A minimized degree of heat, the sunshine, the atmosphere, all will directly affect the growth of plants and the production of fruits and flowers. And when we come to animal life we find that the force or influence necessary to effect a transformation is very slight. That is why environment plays such an important part in the development of man."

Two Desirable Objects Attained.

A very satisfactory increase of 20 per cent in school attendance in Eastern Pennsylvania has followed the law recently enacted requiring children under 14 to attend school. The law also provides that those under 16 shall attend, unless excused by the school authorities, and very few are excused. Education is promoted and child labor reduced by the process.—Franklin News.

YOUNG GIRL PURSUED BY THE BLACK HAND

Stenographer Suffers Nervous Break-Down Because of Italian's Vengeance.

By FRANK A. PARKER.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—Pursued, it is asserted, by the vengeance of the Black Hand, following her courageous prosecution of an Italian accused of accosting her, Miss Helen Jeorge, a stenographer who lives in Brooklyn, was in such a nervious condition today that she was unable to appear before Magistrate Tighe in the Adams street police court as a witness against "Tony" Barbare, 40 years old, who was arrested by detectives standing guard over the girl's home. The man, who is technically charged with loitering, was remanded until tomorrow, when it is expected Miss Jeorge will be able to appear against him.

A little more than a week ago, Miss Jeorge, while on her way to work, was followed and subsequently accosted by a man who gave his name as Antonio Attilio, and who said he was a civil engineer. He seized her by the arm and her struggles to free herself attracted a crowd of men who, when they learned the nature of the trouble, mobbed Attilio. He was only saved from serious harm by the timely arrival of the reserves of the Adams street police station who had to fight their way through the crowd of infuriated men with their clubs to rescue him. In court Attilio was placed under bonds and promised not to molest the girl again. Since that time Miss Jeorge has been followed every time she has gone out and she believes she is under the ban of the Black Hand society.

Uses Great Care in Making Arrest.

The Rev. Dr. J. J. McDonald was a witness in Yorkville police court today against Flossie Cohen, who had been arrested twice on charges of loitering in Third avenue. Dr. McDonald's appearance as a witness elicited the commendation of Magistrate Finn, who fined the woman and sent her to the workhouse for 20 days. "If more clergymen and business men who complain of the presence of women in the streets would come into court to testify against them," the magistrate said to Dr. McDonald, "the evil would quickly dwindle. And if all policemen would use the same care to be right in making arrests as the policeman did in this case few women would be wrongfully taken into custody."

New Wireless Station Opened.

By the opening of a wireless telegraph station on Sable Island, off the coast of Nova Scotia and to the north of the regular trans-Atlantic route, incoming vessels are now reported 50 hours previous to their arrival. The first vessel so reported is the Baltic of the White Star line's fleet. Although she is not due in port until tomorrow evening she was heard from last evening by way of Sable Island. Hitherto all vessels equipped with the wireless telegraph apparatus, which include practically all the fast passenger vessels, have reported themselves to the wireless station on Fire Island.

Curfew Rings for Broadway.

Curfew has rung in the theater belt. The managers of the skyscraping hotels in which the show girls live in splendor now bar the door at the hour of another day. No callers are allowed after that hour, messenger boys bearing invitations to lobster feasts are turned away, and the telephone switchboard is closed up for the night. The fair young women of the footlights are in the depths of woe. One consolation is left to them—callers who arrive before midnight are not ousted.

Controller Grout Out of It.

Controller Grout today sent a letter to Mayor McClellan in which he reaffirmed the statement he made before he went to Europe to the effect that he will retire from office on the expiration of his present term as controller. In the course of the letter the controller says:

"While the salary of the office is generous, as public salaries go, it is no greater than I had been earning at my profession, while the demands of office and the increase in expenses and in the requirements of my family have been such that each year I have spent two or three thousand dollars more than my income. Another four years would mean a difficult retrenchment or running into debt—and this at a period of life when, in justice to my family and myself, I ought to be accumulating something for the future."

Policeman Misses Cab Ride.

A shrewd cab driver refused today to drive to the station a policeman who had arrested him, without the tender of the regular fare from the policeman. The cabman was Joseph Garvin. Policeman Allen saw him beating his horse.

"Drive to the station," said Allen.

"Not on your life, unless you give me my fare," retorted the cabble imperturbably.

"Well, I'll take you to the station, then," said the policeman.

"You'll walk, if you do," responded the cabbie, "and I'll drive along by your side."

The matter was arranged in this manner, and pedestrians along the route to the station were treated to a novel spectacle. Garvin was fined $5.

SOME GOOD STORIES OF PITH AND MOMENT

Gossipy Chat and Anecdote of Entertaining and Instructive Character.

A good story of George Westinghouse, the Pittsburgh inventor and organizer, is that when he had completed his airbrake he submitted it to Commodore Vanderbilt with the object of installing it on the commodore's railroads. He was only 24. He was admitted to the great railroad manager's office and permitted to explain his mission while the commodore opened his mail. Occasionally Mr. Vanderbilt uttered a grunt merely to signify that he was listening to the enthusiastic recital. When the inventor paused Vanderbilt was ready with his decision.

"Young man," he said, "do I understand that you propose to stop a train of cars with wind?"

Westinghouse admitted that was the fact.

"Well, young man, I have no time to bother with damn fools," declared the commodore.—Boston Herald.

If All Wives Were as Credulous.

Chairman Shonts of the Isthmian canal commission said the other day, in illustration of woman's credulity:

"A young man entered the drawing-room of the girl whom he was soon to marry.

"'Oh, John,' she said, 'father saw you this morning going into a pawnbroker's with a large bundle.'

"John flushed. Then he said in a low voice:

"'Yes; that is true. I was taking the pawnbroker some of my old clothes. You see, he and his wife are frightfully hard up.'

"'Oh, John! Forgive me!' exclaimed the young girl. 'How truly noble you are!'"—New York Tribune.

Teaching His Dog Grammar.

"Talking about that question of the sitting versus the setting sun," said a man, "I have a friend who has spent months in trying to teach grammar to his dog. He didn't want the animal, which is very well trained, to pay any attention to the command, 'Lay down!' He said that such atrocious grammar should meet with no response from a well-educated dog and that 'Lie down' was the only thing his pet should obey. Now, if you've ever noticed it, nine persons out of ten, grammarians or not, are sure to say, 'Lay down,' when speaking to a dog. My poor friend had to do his training whenever the need arose, and his efforts to make the beast understand the very slight difference in the sounds of the two words have nearly given both dog and master, to say nothing of other people, nervous prostration. At last the master has yielded and says the dog understands that when he is told to 'Lay down' it means 'Lay himself down.'"—Philadelphia Record.

An Australian Mystery.

With the death of Sir Augustus Gregory the last of the great Australian explorers has passed away. His deeds recalls the most remarkable mystery in the annals of the commonwealth. Fifty-seven years have passed since an exploring expedition, commanded by a German scientist, Ludwig Leichardt, set out from Sydney to cross Australia from east to west. To this day nobody knows what happened to that exploring party. Not a scrap of paper, not a solitary relic of its fate has ever been discovered. It must have been either overwhelmed in some natural convulsion or absolutely annihilated by the blacks. Sir Augustus Gregory led two expeditions in search of it, one of them organized by the Royal Geographical society.—London Chronicle.

W. K. Vanderbilt's Anecdote.

"I heard W. K. Vanderbilt talk the last time I was abroad," said a Pittsburgh man. "It was at the Grand hotel in Rome, and Mr. Vanderbilt dined at the table next to mine. He had just returned from a long trip in a motor car, and his talk naturally dealt with motoring in the main.

"Mr. Vanderbilt said that there were a good many pains and woes incidental to motoring. Most of them, though, could be avoided by good management.

"He said he knew a man who had started with a friend on a week's tour in a big car, and they had stayed two weeks because they altered themselves so much.

"When finally they got back to town it was a Monday night, and late. Mr. Vanderbilt's friend, timid about his reception, went home, and wife received him as coldly as he had expected she would do. What he dreaded, though, was an explosion—an hour's scoldings and upbraidings. As he talked, he tried to think of some way to escape this explosion and finally an idea came to him.

"'I am so glad to be back here with you, dear,' he said. 'But I pity Pitcoe. Poor old Pitcoe!'

"'What is the matter with Pitcoe?' said the lady sharply.

"'Ah, poor fellow,' said her husband, 'at this moment his wife is giving him the very old dance.'

"The lady's manner softened. That wifty speech got her husband off. She would not show herself a common scold, like Mrs. Pitcoe."—Philadelphia Bulletin.

STORIES FOUND IN THE LOBBIES

Interesting Happenings About the People Who Are Traveling.

"There's a kid boy," said Marcus Williamson, a New York traveling man, who walked into the lobby of the Hotel Henry last night and exhibited a very ordinary specimen of the full style of derbies.

"It looks like something I can buy for 98," said Frank Honeyville from his point of vantage. Some bystanders from other cities declared that they could get as good hats for $1. This started an interesting discussion, and the man with the costly hat seemed to be getting the worst of it.

"All the same this hat is worth $250," said Williamson.

"Bah!" came from half a dozen bystanders. Then Williamson held up his headgear and showed the crown to be stuffed with bank notes of all denominations from $5 up to $100. The bills were cut in fantastic shapes and pasted in peculiar fashion. Everybody admitted then that the hat would bring the $250, but they did not remove the odium for insulting Uncle Sam's good paper cash.

"Old Black Joe" in Real Life.

"I hate the negro minstrel calling Old Black Joe."

Travelers at the Union station last night who heard an old white-haired negro singing the plaintive plantation ballad forgot on the aged darkey with pity, but none stopped to inquire why he sang. They gazed curiously at his bundle of clothing and watched him as he made his way through the long corridors behind the waiting coaches. Half blind and crippled with rheumatism, he made his way with tottering footsteps, sadly out of tune he hummed the old melody.

"Who am I?" he repeated, when asked as to his destination. "Ise Ole Black Joe. I hain't had no other name, me I wuz born in Kaintuckee."

The old man's mind was back in childhood. He was not less than 80 years of age, and it was clear by that was responsible for his lamentable mental condition. Driven by his clinging he said that he had been a slave in Virginia until the close of the civil war. His old home was broken up and he wandered into Pennsylvania. He worked while he was able, and then was sent to the York county poorhouse. While waiting on death to relieve him of the burdens of age and disease, his master's grandson, Claude Thackery, a farmer's grower of Jefferson county, Ky., heard of the old slave's plight. He sent him money to come to Kentucky, and last night he stopped at the Union station between trains. He refused to tell his name, except that everybody knew him as "Ole Black Joe."

Hail the Early Nimrod!

The hunting season opens tomorrow and the ardent of the sturgun has taken to the woods. At the Union station last night the gun craze was a noticeable asset to the baggage of a score of travelers and very subsequently took the place of the bag of golf sticks. The Nimrods are praying for frost and their prowess made the crowds returning from Atlantic City look indeed like inspired sportsmen.

Larkin's Messenger Takes a Vacation.

Thomas J. Gatewood, the aged colored messenger in Controller Larkin's office, went to Atlantic City last night. This will be his first experience in the city which at the conclusion of the war was a slave mart. Gatewood, who was a slave on a plantation in Virginia "before de war," and thinks that he is going to the Jersey coast and not to his old home down at Mountain Grove in the Old Dominion.

More Money for Puddlers.

John Tierney, assistant to the president of the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers, last night went to Youngstown to meet the representatives of the Republic Iron and Steel Company to adjust the puddlers' scale settlement. The wages of the puddlers being fixed on the price of bar iron, the latest quotations will give a standard which will yield the workmen $7.75 a ton. This is the highest price that has been paid puddlers in recent years.

More Emigrants Than Immigrants.

There has been a great slump in the immigrant business on the local railroads in the last two years and a correspondingly large increase in the traffic arising from foreigners who are returning to their native shore. The local officers of the Baltimore & Ohio yesterday made some comparisons and discovered that they are sending home more Slavs, Italians and Hungarians than at any time during the last two years. Very few immigrants are arriving here now.

GET TO WORK.

If the skies look dull to you,
Get to work;
If the atmosphere is blue,
Get to work.
Fostering fear discomfort
Will not help the landlord's rent,
Will not gain for you a cent—
Get to work.

Brooding doesn't help your cause,
Get to work;
Nothing gained by sighing flaws,
Get to work.
Weak are trampled by the strong?
You a victim of man's wrong?
"Stand the storm, it won't be long"—
Get to work.

If success shall crown you yet
Get to work,
There's no other way but just
Get to work.
It only child and wealth you have,
Much or little, just the same,
If you starve you'll do same—
Get to work.

TO ASK GOVERNOR FOR AN ALDERMAN

Walter Wadsworth of the Fourth Ward, Allegheny, Disappears in Mysterious Manner.

OFFICE CLOSED FOUR MONTHS

Gov. Pennypacker is to be asked to declare vacant the office of alderman in the Fourth ward, Allegheny, and to name a successor to Alderman Walter Wadsworth, who disappeared four months ago. Two North Side Republican politicians will go to Harrisburg today or tomorrow to confer with the governor and Attorney General Carson. No similar case has ever been dealth with in this vicinity and for this reason it is said there is no precedent.

Wadsworth was the first man arrested and indicted for extortion in the Allegheny graft crusade, started last fall. Subsequently other charges were made against him and he was held for court by Alderman Toole. He was jointly charged with two other men with fixing up a deal on a woman in the Fourth ward, who was running an immoral resort. She testified that after an information had been made she was visited by one of the trio, and told that upon the payment of a certain sum the suit would be withdrawn. Part of this money she paid, and, according to her story, she was hounded for the balance. Wadsworth made no defense at the hearing, but declared to his friends that he had never been party to the job.

Not long after this Wadsworth frequently left his office for weeks at a time, and four months ago he disappeared entirely. His wife, who is living with friends in East Ohio street, says she does not know where he is. His office was closed and since then the Fourth ward has been without an alderman. Two weeks ago his creditors took legal steps to open his office at 911 East Ohio street and a constable's sale followed. His desks, safe and other office furnishings and fixtures, were sold to satisfy some debt and the room was left bare.

After waiting a long time for his return, the Republican ward leaders sought to have a successor appointed. The party leaders were seen and it was decided to lay the matter before Gov. Pennypacker.

ELECTION FOR PRESIDENT RESULTS IN A TIE VOTE

Members of County W. C. T. U. Try Again and Name Mrs. Elizabeth S. McMasters.

In balloting for the election of a president for the Allegheny County Women's Christian Temperance union yesterday morning, in the Third United Presbyterian church, during the annual convention, a tie vote of 29 to 29 was reached, the two candidates being Mrs. Elizabeth S. McMasters of Buena Vista street, Allegheny, and Mrs. Martha Irwin. On a second ballot, Mrs. McMasters was elected, receiving 38 votes. She will succeed Mrs. H. H. Forrest, who had been president five years.

Mrs. Irwin was then elected vice president, Mrs. Mary E. Steck of Bellevue, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Minnie McKee of Mt. Washington, recording secretary, and Mrs. Isabella McConnell, treasurer. The balance of the morning session was devoted to hearing and accepting reports.

During the afternoon session Mrs. Vernice Smith, superintendent of work among foreigners, reported the distribution of 6,465 pages of literature and 134 Bibles. The election of a delegate to represent the county union at the national convention, to be held in Los Angeles, provoked spirited discussion. Mrs. E. W. Gormley was named, whereupon Mrs. H. H. Forrest, the retiring president, announced that Mrs. Gormley had told her that she was going anyway, and though for that reason Mrs. Gormley's expenses should not be paid, Mrs. Gormley answered by stating that if she had the honor to represent the union, the organization should have the honor of paying her expenses. It was finally decided to devise ways and means to pay the expenses.

Louisa Mary Hodle, the infant daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Hodle of Toronto, O., was consecrated to the cause of temperance, with the mother's pledge that the infant should never drink liquor. Resolutions were passed declaring that indiscriminate association of prisoners in jails and penitentiaries was injurious in effect and that teachers in public schools should give "assurance of total abstinence and virtuous lives" before obtaining positions.

MR. LEISHMAN GETS ACTION.

Sultan of Turkey Orders an Inquiry Into Death Sentence of an American Citizen.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Sept. 13.—The sultan has ordered a ministerial inquiry as the result of the energetic protests made by Mr. Leishman, the American minister, relative to the sentencing to death of Ghirkis Vartanian, who professes to be a naturalized American, for the killing of Apik Undjian, a prominent Armenian on August 26.

Minister Leishman did not deliver an ultimatum, but complained that the Turkish government had disregarded international law and that the minister insisted on the verification of the American passport produced by Vartanian.

Maloney Makes Double Escape.

Through Mrs. Annie Maloney the police have learned her husband, Daniel Maloney, who jumped into the Allegheny river Tuesday night to escape the police, reached the Allegheny side safely and later sent a messenger for his clothes. The Maloneys live at Fifty-second street and Berlin alley, and the police want him on a charge of abusing his wife. When they went to Maloney's house he escaped and jumped into the river and was thought to have been drowned. TRAILER UPSETS AND 40 WORKMEN ARE INJURED

Passengers Going to Work Narrowly Escape Death in an Accident at Hays Junction.

While descending a steep grade at Hays Junction at 6.10 o'clock yesterday morning the trailer of car 1511 on the Homestead division was upset and 40 passengers were injured and bruised. The car and trailer were crowded with men on their way to work. While going down the hill the trolley is said to have jumped from the wire and the cars got beyond control of the motorman. After the trailer upset it was dragged for about 20 feet by the motor car, which was stopped by striking a pole.

Word of the accident was telephoned to the Glenwood car barns and a special car was sent out to care for the injured, who were taken to the car barns, where their injuries were dressed. Eighteen of the injured were taken to the Homeopathic hospital and three to Mercy hospital. Twelve were able to leave the Homeopathic hospital during the day.

After an investigation by Supt. Callahan and Division Superintendent Long, the company issued a statement that the accident was unavoidable and out of the ordinary. Those seriously injured are: J. R. Smith, J. A. Evans, Thomas Love, John J. Attenberger, John Jod, Andrew Werner, William Harris, Anton Kotclak, James Pugh, William Turner, Sr., William Turner, Jr., Matt Celser, John Pinchok, F. M. McGee, Joe Posltery, Dennis Fitzwilliam, Valentine Gedion, Thomas Gedion.

Adulteration of Foods

A Practice That Cannot Be Too Strongly Condemned. Adequate Laws Should Be Passed at Once.

The people of the United States certainly have a right to demand pure food laws of the most rigid character and they should be enforced without fear or favor. Adulteration and substitution are not alone dangerous, but positively dishonest and should be brought to an end.

Many physicians ascribe the great prevalence of dyspepsia, constipation and other derangements of the digestive tract to impure or improper food. Good, plain, wholesome food is the best, of course, always.

No food that is adulterated or a substitute should be sold except for exactly what it is. The Malta-Vita Pure Food Co. offers to the public the breakfast food that is not only the most delicious you ever tasted, but it is an absolutely pure grain product. No foreign substance is used to sweeten it. It is made of the best wheat grown, treated with barley malt which, acting upon the gelatinized starch of the wheat, turns into Maltose or Malt Sugar, which gives it that delicate, delicious sweetness that all Malta-Vita users miss when they try and other breakfast food, and sugar, syrup or glucose-sweetened breakfast foods cannot replace it.

The great value of Maltose as a nutritive substance cannot be exaggerated. In the living organism it is transformed into assimilable sugar more rapidly than saccharose or cane sugar. It is very easy to digest and, having not so sweet a taste as cane sugar, it can be taken in much greater quantities than the latter.

"Malta-Vita" is no meaningless coined word; it stands for its literal translation from the Latin and means exactly what it says—"Malt Life." The original phrase "For the blood is the life" is the starting point and final winning post of Malta-Vita, which contains a considerable percentage of Maltose, a natural sweetening agent, easily digestible and readily assimilated by the human economy, forming rich, healthy blood.

Malta-Vita is appetizing in the morning, at noon and at night. It puts the tingle of new life into sluggish blood, builds up bone and muscle, refreshes the brain and nerves.

And Malta-Vita is so good to eat. One dish of it, with a little cream or fruit, will start the day just right for you. It is the perfect food for children and grown folks.

Malta-Vita—so delicious that it melts in the mouth, so crisp, so refreshing, so satisfying—is 10 cents now at all grocers. Same high quality, same big package as when sold for 15 cents.

DOCTORS DIFFER IN KOMURA'S CASE

Japanese Peace Envoy May Be Suffering from Typhoid Fever, They Say.

BARON ROSEN IS A CALLER

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—Baron Komura, the Japanese peace envoy, who was reported today to be suffering from typhoid fever, although the consulting physicians are not a unit on this point, was said to be in a satisfactory condition. Baron Komura is at the Waldorf-Astoria hotel and his return to Japan has been indefinitely postponed, although most of the members of his suite will set sail for home tomorrow.

Among those who called to inquire after Baron Komura tonight was Baron Rosen, one of the Russian peace envoys. He had a short talk with Minister Takahira. Minister Takahira will go to Washington tomorrow. He will remain there unless there is a serious turn in Baron Komura's condition.

A cablegram was received during the day from Baroness Komura inquiring as to her husband's condition. The Japanese were much pleased at the receipt of the cablegram as dispatches had been received in this city reporting Baroness Komura and her children to have been murdered.

OYSTER BAY, L. I., Sept. 13.—Baron Rosen, the Russian ambassador, was a guest today of the president and Mrs. Roosevelt at luncheon. The nature of the visit was not disclosed.

On the eve of his departure from America M. Witte, the Russian peace plenipotentiary, sent to President Roosevelt by telegraph the following message:

President Roosevelt:

Before leaving the hospitable soil of the United States, I beg in my own name and on behalf of my fellow-workers, to offer my heartful thanks to you, Mr. President, to the government of the United States and the whole American nation for the cordial welcome given to us on our arrival and the uniform courtesy shown us during our sojourn here, the memory of which will live in our hearts forever. WITTE.

Nine Cases of Typhoid.

Nine cases of typhoid fever and three of scarlet fever were reported to the bureau of health yesterday.

The Death Roll.

Prof. Albert J. Dalgauer.

Prof. Albert J. Dalgauer, aged 72, one of the oldest musicians of this city, died yesterday at his home, 114 Oakland avenue, from asthma. He was born in Baden, Germany, and received his education in the schools of that place, later studying music in the university at Heidelburg. He came to Pittsburgh in 1850 and for a time taught school at Butler, Pa. At the outbreak of the civil war he enlisted in the One Hundred and Fifty-fifth regiment, Pennsylvania volunteers, and fought in all the battles from Antietam to Appamottox. He attended the recent reunion of the members of his regiment at Kennywood park and was very active until a few weeks before his death. When Pittsburgh first installed horse cars Prof. Dalgauer refused to use them and traveled to his pupils' homes on horseback. Many of the first musicians of this city received instruction under Prof. Dalgauer. In 1868 he married Elizabeth Jane Montgomery, who survives him.

William H. Foster.

William H. Foster, of Edgewood, died suddenly Tuesday at Atlantic City, where he had been for a week in the hope of improving his health, which had been failing for over a year. He has been identified with Pittsburgh coal interests for 25 years, being connected with the W. L. Scott Company at its Scott Haven mines for many years, and more recently had served as superintendent of the Turtle Creek mines of the New York & Cleveland Gas Coal Company. He was a Democrat and was a familiar figure of the state Democratic conventions. He was a son of H. H. Foster, a leading lawyer of the Mercer bar during the sixties, and his mother was a daughter of Gen. Parker of Mercer.

Mrs. Annie Elliot Cluley.

Mrs. Annie Elliot Cluley, aged 76, widow of Francis Cluley, died yesterday noon after 20 weeks' illness at her home, 5515 Stanton avenue. Mrs. Cluley was born in Philadelphia and was a daughter of Thomas and Jane Elliot, who were among the first families of that city. She came to this city in 1825 and has lived here since. She is survived by two children, Robert E. Cluley, ex-city clerk and cashier of the Pittsburgh postoffice, and Miss Lydia B. Cluley, at home. She leaves a sister, Mrs. Jane C. Diehl, mother of ex-Mayor W. J. Diehl. Funeral services will be held at her late residence tomorrow at 3 p. m., and the interment will be in the Allegheny cemetery.

Mrs. John Mitchell.

Mrs. Lena Milbert Mitchell, aged 40, wife of John Mitchell of Sixth street, Sharpsburg, died at St. Francis' hospital from typhoid fever yesterday morning. She was born and lived all her life in Sharpsburg. She was the daughter of the late Adam and Mrs. Milbert. Fifteen years ago she married John Mitchell, who survives her, with two sons, John and Frank Mitchell; her mother, four brothers, John, Jacob, Albert and Joseph, and one sister, Miss Sophie Milbert.

Mrs. Solomon Arnold.

Mrs. Emma Arnold, aged 52, wife of Solomon Arnold, died yesterday morning at Passavant hospital while undergoing an operation. She was born in Pittsburgh and lived here all her life. She leaves her husband, who is connected with the real estate firm of S. Arnold & Co., a granddaughter, Miss Cora Dennison, and the following sisters: Mrs. Elizabeth Dennison, Mrs. James Delaney, Mrs. John Richardson, Mrs. Cargo and Mrs. Colwell, all of this city.

Obituary Notes.

Christopher McKinley, a wealthy German, aged 80, is dead at his home in Kittanning.

Miss Nellie Saunders, a teacher at the Raison school, died Tuesday night at Mercy hospital. She is survived by her father, a brother and a sister.

Mrs. Rosina Mueller, aged 80, died Tuesday at her home, 1164 East Ohio street, Allegheny. She was born in Germany and came to this country when young. She was a member of the St. Philomena church.

GRAND PARADE GIVEN IN HONOR OF GUESTS

FRANKLIN, PA., Sept. 13.—(Special.)—This proved to be the best day for the Venango county centennial and old-home week. The feature of the day was a military industrial and fantastic parade, of which Gen. John A. Wiley was chief marshall. One of the most unique displays was the family of O. C. Sigworth of Canal township on a hay rack engaged in domestic duties. The Franklin lodge of Elks had 110 men in uniform in line. The military feature consisted of the Meadville, Oil City, Franklin and Cooperstown companies of the Sixteenth regiment. After the parade they engaged in a sham battle in the city park.

HAY FEVER

Pretzinger's Catarrh Balm stops hay fever as sure as frost. All druggists sell it. Send a two-cent stamp to pay postage for free sample, or 50 cents for a full-size jar, also booklet on hay fever, to Pretzinger Bros., Chemists, Dayton, O.

"The sample of your catarrh balm I sent for has done me more good than all the other medicines I ever used. I had hay fever for the last 25 years. Your balm relieved me at once and for the last three days one would not know that I had hay fever. I am perfectly delighted with the relief obtained from the use of only one small box of the balm."—Mrs. H. G. Redington, North Amherst, O.

"I have been a sufferer from hay fever for several years, but your catarrh balm worked like magic in curing me. The first application gave me relief."—Miss Gertrude Maloney, Albion, N. Y.

"Clothes don't make the man—but they often make or mar his pleasure."

"The Clothier-dogist"

Every man owes it to himself and to his business to wear clothes that look well, that are just right—and yet dress within his means.

Every garment we make exactly represents an original custom made model, the cost of which would be prohibitive except to the very wealthy—and yet when it is reproduced and the cost spread over a number of garments, the price is moderate.

BANK PETITION IS DISMISSED

Court Fails to Find Any Fraud in McKinley Coal Co. Case to Justify Attachment.

DENIES THE ROAD IS PARALLEL

Judge Collier yesterday dismissed a petition for an attachment filed by the First National bank in its suit against William H. and Ernest H. McKinley. The bank claimed there was neglect and refusal to obey a decree directing that the stock, bonds and other property of the Monongahela Consolidated Coal and Coke Company received by the McKinley Coal Company be placed among the assets of the latter company, to pay debts due the bank, and that the defendants must refund so much of the McKinley company's assets received by them as would meet the plaintiff's judgment.

Judge Collier said he failed to find anything in the decree justifying an attachment on the grounds of fraud. The only finding bearing on the question was that there was a misappropriation, but it is far from finding that there was a fraudulent misappropriation. Until it is determined how much, if any of the stock, is required to meet the plaintiff's judgment the court would not allow an attachment.

The Pennsylvania railroad filed its answer to the suit of the Tibby Brothers Glass Company. The action is for land taken by the railroad for the Brilliant cut-off. The railroad company denies that the West Penn is a parallel or competing line with the Pennsylvania railroad, and it is also denied that the plaintiff has any right or standing to raise any question in regard to the acquisition of the West Penn by the Pennsylvania railroad.

To Restrain School Directors.

Suit was filed by William W. Whitaker against the school directors of the borough of Braveeburg and William Kniss, the tax collector for the borough, to restrain them from the levy of a building tax and its collection. The plaintiff asks that a preliminary injunction be issued against the defendants. Whitaker alleges that at a meeting of the school board, held June 6, last, a motion was carried that a levy of school tax of 7 mills, and a building tax of 7 mills be made for the year. The total assessment of the borough for school purposes is $875,000. A building tax of 7 mills on this valuation would amount to $6,125, and there is not now and never has been in contemplation by the school board either the purchase of ground or the erection of a school building in the borough, it is claimed.

Suit to recover $1,000 to repay the expenses incident to a previous suit was begun by Mary Costello against J. Evans Maxwell and Adelia Maxwell. The plaintiff says the defendants built a stable on her property in the Thirteenth ward. She brought ejectment proceedings and won the case. Now she sues for $1,000 damages to meet the expenses of her first suit.

A mandatory injunction was granted by Judge Young against the Carnegie Steel Company giving H. J. Graham a right-of-way through the company's property at Duquesne. Mrs. Mary Oliver in 1896 sold 8½ acres along Thompsons run to the Carnegie Company, reserving a 40-foot road across the land to a tract of 19 acres owned by her. Graham now owns this property. The Steel company denied his right to cross its land, and Judge Young decided that he is clearly entitled to it.

Full Bench Hears Arguments.

The exceptions filed by Nattie McLean to the decree of Judge Hawkins in the Colonial Trust Company stock dispute in the estate of J. O. Brown, deceased, was argued. A full bench was present and the ground covered was the same as at the previous hearings.

In criminal court before Judge Macfarlane John Alses, a Croation, pleaded guilty to charge of attempted criminal assault and larceny, made by Mrs. Jennie Moles, and was sentenced two years in the workhouse.

Arthur Kirk, a negro, was found guilty of entering the residence of Charles H. Cavil at Coraopolis and stealing jewelry and clothing. Frank Brown, a companion of Kirk, went on the stand and testified against him. He also stated that Kirk had robbed a hotel at Beaver Falls and had thrown one of the watches he had secured into the Beaver river because it had initials on it and he was afraid it would lead to his arrest.

Samuel Turner, a negro, was sentenced five years to the penitentiary. He was charged with robbing the residence of Edward Rann in Allegheny and with aggravated assault and battery by his wife, Josephine Turner.

Other cases were: P. J. Doran, felony, two years to the workhouse; Samuel Gardner, larceny, one year to the penitentiary; John Glueckel and Dennis McKim, entering railroad cars, sent to Huntingdon reformatory; Edward Harris, entering a building, guilty.

Wants Paid for Accusations.

Suit was filed by Hiram Chinn against Samuel D. Roach, asking $5,000 damages. Chinn alleges that the defendant had him taken before Alderman Negley on a charge of embezzling $15, and also with obtaining $16 from John Monroe by pretending he was an agent for the Bethel A. M. E. church and also that he secured some books belonging to the church. Chinn says he was tried in criminal court on all the charges and acquitted.

The Hill Construction Company filed a suit against the Steel Highway Track Construction of America to recover a balance of $2,812 due on a contract for the laying of rails on the Butler plank road.

The grand jury returned the following true bills: Embezzlement, G. A. Hoyle; burglary, E. Johnston; felony, Ruben Finkelstein; larceny, Frank Groni; assault and battery, John Braxton et al; aggravated assault, Frank Mosehl; larceny by bailee, A. W. McMillan; misdemeanor, William Green, Lynn Lewis, Frank Geronne, Samuel Neeley, James McGinley.

Ella Diehl filed a suit against the Pittsburgh Railways Company, asking $20,000 damages for the death of her husband, John Deihl.

Damages in $15,000 are asked by Arnold Geiser from the Pittsburgh Railways Company for the death of his son, James A. Geiser.

A petition in bankruptcy was filed by Robert Wallace, individually and as partner in the firm of R. Wallace & Bro., of Oakdale. His liabilities are $6,370 12, and assets $2,105 88.

Executions issued: A. W. Powell against Frank Dillon, $166; J. W. Gallepher et al against P. J. Rodgers, $236.

ASSAULTED BY FOOTPADS.

George Leslie, Employe of Morgue, Robbed and Beaten Under Bridge of Sighs.

George Leslie, driver of the morgue ambulance, was held up, robbed and severely beaten on Ross street, in front of the jail at 11:45 o'clock last night.

Leslie was on his way back to the morgue after eating his lunch when two men sprang upon him from the rear as he was passing under the "Bridge of Sighs." One of them struck him on the back of the head with a blunt instrument, knocking him down, when both kicked and beat him into insensibility. They then rifled his pockets securing a small sum of money and a bunch of keys.

Leslie recovered and was taken to the Homeopathic hospital where his injuries, which consisted of a broken nose and several bad cuts on the face and head, were dressed, after which he was taken to his home in Webster avenue. He was unable to identify his assailants.

Better Depot Is Wanted.

To secure a better depot for Oakmont M. S. Verner has offered the borough a strip of ground 75x400 feet on East Railroad avenue, if the borough will give the Pennsylvania railroad a part of East Railroad avenue 25x500 feet. The Pennsylvania company, if the offer is accepted, will build a new buff brick depot, worth $25,000.

Exposition visitors are invited to call and inspect the handsome banking quarters of the Peoples Savings bank, Fourth avenue and Wood street. This bank originated the banking by mail system, and is known all over the world as "The Bank That Pays 4 per cent."

The S. Hamilton Co.

Map of Pittsburgh Free.

The Rankin Improvement Company has issued an artistic folder which is being sent gratuitously to those desiring detailed information relative to the Penn Manor plan of lots. A most interesting feature of this folder is a map of Greater Pittsburgh, showing in clear print the location of all streets, railroads, car lines, parks, ward divisions, points of interest, etc., including Penn Manor and the entire South Side. The map itself is a valuable guide and is superior to anything yet published. It will be mailed free on request to any interested person. The folder answers every question which might be asked relative to the Penn Manor plan, which is but 15 minutes by car from the center of the city.

Fancy vests in high favor this year

It is accepted as good form to appear with a fancy waistcoat, and the many beautiful patterns we are showing are enough to make any man covetous. Preference seems to be given to the single-breasted and for those who go in for extremes there are the bound edge vests. Our display is replete with all the latest materials—dignified patterns in subdued colorings as well as the ever popular white. Prices range from $1 to $7.50.

A review of the styles for fall and winter, 1905-06

Is spread before you on this page. A gallery of fashion's mirroring what's new in men's togs.

"There Is No Better Clothing Sold Anywhere."

The new three and four-button sacks.

Generally speaking the sack suit is the most appropriate for business wear; it has many convenient pockets; it looks terse and business-like. A business man don't care for extreme changes in clothes any more than in business. The most noticeable change this season is that they are decidedly longer. The back follows the figure without touching it; 30 to 33 inches in length; side or center vent.

The cut to left illustrates the three button—the cut to right the four button. Mostly Scotchy materials, fancy worsteds, cassimeres, cheviots and tweeds. Patterns incline to small checks, fancy stripes and the new greenish mixtures. The greys which were so much in vogue in the past season will also be worn.

Prices range from $10 to $35.

We have held our fingers on our lips until now to keep from telling or foretelling of our preparations for the coming season's trade. For months we have been close students of fashion, really taking a post-graduate course in style-study, until we are now prepared to speak authoritatively. We have tried to faithfully depict and describe herewith what is and what will be the correct apparel for gentlemen's wear this season.

The few truly great clothing manufacturers, who sell us, have striven to get away from the "year-in, year-out" styles—and have succeeded admirably.

We consider our fall season most auspiciously opened by this present showing of men's regulation garments that are "different."

Any store can say "We have the best"—the thing is to prove it. For years we have been employing this curt phrase in advertising our clothing department. There is no better clothing sold anywhere," and we modestly say that no merchant or store has risen to refute our assertion.

The thing is to prove it—and there is but one way it can be done—comparison. We will not ding-dong our "supremacy" into your ears, we will not monopolize your time with eulogies; our advertising campaign for the publicity of our clothing has but commenced, more of our trumpet blowing later.

THE CLOTHING WE SELL is made to our order by the few greatest clothing manufacturers in this country. Before finally determining what we would sell we selected the representative garments at each price from each manufacturer and compared them with our ideals, and after carefully and impartially measuring and testing, have ready to present to you the result of our comparison and leave it to your judgment to decide whether it is likely that you will find better garments; price for price, than those we offer.

Many stores carry goods from season to season and start this season's selling by bringing out last year's clothes at a "price." Sometimes that turns out very well—though we don't believe in the scheme. This year it won't. Men's coats are longer. It's going to make "carried-over" clothes seem queer. At any rate, come see the "brand-new"—styles have changed. We are doing so well with our ready-to-wear that your "exclusive tailor" is being left with less and less of a leg to stand on.

We trust you will deem this reflection of the coming season's styles and synopsis of what we have to offer of sufficient interest to read. It will give us great pleasure to bring you in actual contact with the garments, and assure you that every courtesy will be extended to you—whether you come to see or to purchase. Under no consideration will you be importuned to buy.

The very latest in double-breasted sacks.

The three-button styles have the preference. Special attention is called to the two styles of lapels, the one on the left very wide and pointed; that to the right a trifle narrow and rounded. Side and center vents, lengths 30 to 33 inches. Double breasted suits with a solid athletic shape to the figure; the style much sought after by younger men. Pants semi-wide at hips tapering gradually to shoe tops.

There is no radical change in the materials to be worn from the last heavy-weight season; the worsteds, both rough and smooth surface, in greyish, brownish and greenish effects are the first in favor. Wide-wale weaves, pronounced overplaids and distinct narrow plaids will be in evidence.

Prices range from $10 to $35.

The correct styles in ¾ length overcoats.

The three-quarter length to the left and the full length as shown to the right. These coats remain practically unchanged in style, three-quarter being medium loose; the longer coats being fuller fitting from the shoulders down. These overcoats are affected by business men who make no attempt at variance in dress other than prescribed by dignified fashion. Lengths vary from 44 to 52 inches.

The materials from which these overcoats are made run the gamut of overcoatings, including kerseys, meltons, Moulaise, Vicuna or Montagnac, in the ever popular black, brown, dark grey, olives and dark blue; plain and fancy materials. The usual proportion of plain colors for those who avoid the more showy effects.

Prices range from $10 to $30.

Double-breasted, ¾ and full length overcoats.

The illustration at left depicts the extra full length overcoats; they just clear the shoe tops. These coats present a rich appearance not found in the general run of great coats. They are contrived to take the place of the unsightly and cumbersome ulster. Large lapels, plain shawl effect back. These coats are particularly adaptable for men who are much exposed to the elements.

The cut to the right depicts a three-quarter length coat which is fashioned much after the other although the velvet collar lends it a trifle more dressy appearance. These overcoats are made from Scotch heather stripes and plaids, fancy cheviots, Vicunas, meltons, friezes and kerseys, in many colors.

Prices range from $15 to $35.

The new single and double-breasted paddocks.

Made in two and three-button style. These coats are very much in vogue for smart dressers and are one of the most becoming garments ever designed for men, being much affected by those in professional pursuits. The back to the waist line conforms closely to the figure, while the skirt is large and flowing, the main feature being their athletic build above the waist line and graceful "drape" below.

These overcoats are made from the same variety of material as the single and double-breasted regulation styles, but the patterns are more subdued and taste inclines towards plain colors. It requires the acme of tailoring perfection to attain character in the making of these garments.

Cutaway frocks, Prince Alberts and topcoats.

The double-breasted frock or Prince Albert is designed for the more formal day dress. They are a fixture in the wardrobe of every well-dressed man. Odd trousers are sometimes affected with the double-breasted frock. Both of these styles of suits are made of soft unfinished cheviots, worsteds and smooth Vicunas, in black and oxfords. The cutaway frocks show a little deeper cut to waist and less fullness of skirt.

The "topper." These coats are particularly designed to wear in the early fall; essentially a between-season garment. Cut very full and wide and somewhat longer than last season; plain center and side vents. Black oxford, light and dark tan and olive coverts and mixtures; also the new invisible plaids and stripes.

Rain-or-shine and fur-trimmed overcoats.

The new raincoats have nothing in appearance that indicates that they are designed for wet weather wear; although treated to render them impervious to water they are fit to more service than a man's overcoats. They are much too fine to narrow their usefulness to rainy-day wear. Made in plain long sack; as well as single and double-breasted paddock style; extremely long and full cut. Prices $10 to $40.

The fur trimmed overcoats are made from finest imported Beaver, trimmed with the very finest quality Persian lamb procurable. Made with deep shawl collar, wide cuffs. For men who are much exposed to the weather, driving or autoing, these garments will be found exceedingly "comfy;" very luxurious in appearance as well as in fact.

We show a magnificent line at $65.

The formal full dress and the informal tuxedo.

For evening dress and functions after six the requirements are pretty well known and the rules are strict. No gentleman who is particular as to correct dress is without the swallowtail for formal and the Tuxedo for less formal occasions. The full dress coat has peak lapel or shawl collar. One is as stylish as the other. These suits must be hand made by most skilled work-people to insure presentable appearance.

The Tuxedo or dinner jacket is informal evening dress suitable for the club, dinner at home or social occasions where only men are present. The new styles are slightly fuller with decided square front effects. Trifle longer and medium-wide lapels. The full dress and Tuxedo suits are made of finest worsteds, Vicunas or crepe cloth.

Prices range from $15 to $38.

BLANKED THE CHAMPIONS.

Waynesburg Takes a Fall Out of the Wheeling Team.

WAYNESBURG, Sept. 13.—(Special.)—In a pitchers' battle today Elmer Cannon shut out the Wheeling Central league champions, being opposed by Wheeling's crack southpaw, Miller. The Steelers failed to reach third except in the eighth, when Livingstone hit for two bases and reached third on a wild pitch. Cannon struck out the next two men and the third went to the bench on a short drive to second. Harry Wilhelm had the batting honors for Waynesburg, having two doubles and scoring the only run in the game on a double, an out at first and a long fly by Ben Montgomery. BRUNOTS MATINEE RACES WILL BE RESUMED

Regular matinee racing will be resumed Saturday afternoon at Brunots island. A few horses have been sent out to fill engagements on the circuit, though the large majority of the island favorites are still at the track and will be in the various classes Saturday afternoon. In the fast pacing class Frank Wilson, Lady May and Terrace Queen will meet, and as the rivalry is keen this trio will furnish some sport that will be on a par with the inter-city races.

Robin C., Uncle William, Mary D. and Redwood are at the island to meet in the trotting class. Dr. Strong has several engagements on the circuit and will not be here for the closing matinees. Henry Haas has nominated Sufreet for the 2:06 pace in Cincinnati next week, and the little black mare will not be here. Mr. Haas has West View to drive during the absence of his pacer. Ed. Benyon will drive Sufreet when she starts in Cincinnati. Joe Glesenkam's Evelyn Byrd will start in Columbus. She will go to Lexington.

The program for the matinee this week will be as good as any this season, in the opinion of the race committee.

OLD CORNER IS TO BE IMPROVED

Plans for Eight Warehouses at Grant and Water Streets to Cost $200,000.

SQUIRREL HILL TRANSACTION

Plans have been prepared and estimates are now being taken for the erection of eight warehouses on the lot bounded by Water and Grant streets and First avenue. The property is owned by Isabelle Ross and measures 84x160 feet, one of the largest lots down town. The improvements consist of dilapidated structures, several of them only one story high, which pay a low rental and occupy ground that is badly needed for business structures. The plans prepared are for seven-story brick and steel warehouses to face on Grant street and First avenue. These will be fireproof and will be so arranged that one or more can be rented to a single firm as desired. The owners are prepared to spend $200,000 for the improvements, and as the estimates come within this sum the buildings will be started at once, so that they may be ready for spring renting. Such warehouses in this locality should rent readily for $6,000 a year each, as they will be directly across Water street from the proposed Baltimore & Ohio railroad terminal, so that the investment will be a good one if made.

Nice Sale on Squirrel Hill.

Through the Commonwealth Real Estate company F. G. Kay has sold to a local business man another of his new Squirrel Hill houses for $16,000. This is one of five houses which Mr. Kay built on lots 50x150 feet facing on the south side of Northumberland street, near Forbes street. The residences have 15 rooms and three tile bath rooms and are exceptionally well finished, the kitchen being done in tile throughout. The house sold yesterday is opposite the Peter Shields residence, which Grant McCargo recently bought and near the Murdoch entrance to Schenley park. This is the third one of the lots sold, the last sale being to George Snow.

An option has been secured on the property of George A. Berry at 123-125 Water street, corner of Chancery lane, and a deal is well advanced for its purchase. The lot is 83x150 feet, extending through to First avenue, and is improved with a three-story brick building, now occupied by the Baird Machinery Company. Efforts have also been made very recently to buy the G. N. C. Nimick holdings of the same size adjoining. The two lots would afford one of the largest available sites in the downtown district and their nearness to the Wabash and Pennsylvania freight terminals makes them peculiarly advantageous.

Representatives of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company and the borough council of Wilkinsburg failed to come to an agreement Tuesday night on the matter of abolishing crossings in the borough and another meeting will be held soon. Preliminary negotiations started last week by agents of the railroad led to the belief that the matter would be settled finally Tuesday night, and considerable disappointment is felt at the result. The railroad company proposes to raise the tracks 12 feet at Rebecca street, South avenue and Penn avenue and have the streets lowered six feet, making 18 feet in the clear. It further proposes to build the necessary tunnels and bear all the cost of the improvement, providing the borough is responsible for whatever damages to property may be sustained. The borough councilmen decline to accept this last proviso, as the change would result in damages to at least two squares of property facing Wood street, where values are going up with an encouraging rapidity.

The deed has been delivered in the sale of the O'Hara property at 210 Stockton avenue, Allegheny, by E. G. Ray and others, which was published in The Gazette last July when the deal was made. The exact price was $2,-500, but the name of the real buyer is withheld by the broker who handled the sale. The property consists of 20x240 feet on Union avenue and extending through to Park way and has on it a 10-room brick house known as the O'Hara homestead.

Gets Deed to His Old Property.

Samuel Hamilton has obtained a sheriff's deed for the property at the southeast corner of Penn avenue and Barker's alley, which he formerly owned. On August 8 the property was bid off at sheriff's sale by W. P. Harlos who, it appears, acted for Mr. Hamilton. The total obligation assumed by Mr. Hamilton in the purchase amount to about $204,000, which makes the property figure at $5,100 a front foot.

Through the agency of J. F. Hudson F. M. Hepner has bought the property of Charles E. Reed at 1532 Fayette street, Allegheny, for $12,000. The house is a 12-room, reception-hall brick dwelling on 40x120 feet and was bought for a home.

Vet L. Brown & Co. have sold for John Purdy to J. M. Barrett, president of the Polar Water Company, a farm of 76 acres two miles west of Beaver on the Dutch Ridge road for $40,000. The farm is one of the best grain farms in that vicinity and is well improved, having a large orchard on it. The buyer will build an $8,000 residence there next spring. The same brokers sold for N. D. Onslow to A. D. Starrett an eight-room brick house on 25x38 feet at 913 Allen avenue, near Walnut street, Twentieth ward, for $6,000.

The German Realty Company sold for John Baker to M. C. Smith of Mt. Oliver six acres of land with a brick house in Scott township for $6,000. The property is two miles beyond Mt. Lebanon and opposite the Phillips school house.

The famed goose that laid the golden egg has found her nest in East Bellevue, according to a very attractive bit of circularizing that was issued yesterday by the Freehold Real Estate Company describing the property of the Allegheny-Bellevue Land Company, which developed the three West View properties. The property is in the upper Rodgers avenue section and adjoins the well-known Moon estate. The new street car line running through Bellevue by way of Lincoln, Thomas, Rodgers and Forest avenues now touches the property on one side and the West View line has been extended to the other side. The former runs over a bridge spanning the pretty ravine which runs through East Bellevue. Most of the lots are 40x150 feet. A feature of the plan will be that the Freehold will furnish plans for new houses free to lot purchasers.

The other allotments that have been announced recently are having a steady sale. The Curran-Algeo allotment in West Liberty, handled by the Real Estate Trust Company, is moving off well, as is the new addition to the electric plan of the Turtle Creek Land & Improvement Company. Not a day passes that one or more lots are not sold in the Brighton Heights allotment, whose formal opening takes place next Monday, and over $17,000 worth of lots have already been marketed in this plan by George T. McDonald and his agents.

Death Takes Pauper Immigrant.

While arranging to have Mrs. Martha Szlimak, aged 28, a Slav, taken to Baltimore to be deported, immigrant Inspector Layton discovered death had intervened. The woman came to this city some months ago, suffering from consumption, and was taken to Reineman hospital for treatment and the inspector was notified. He arranged with Miss Mamie Irvin, matron of the immigration department at Baltimore, to take the woman to Baltimore, but when she arrived Mrs. Szlimak was too sick. Later she gave birth to a child, which has since died. On Tuesday the matron came here again and learned of Mrs. Szlimak's death.

CLUBS

Close Lillian Home With Party.

The last party of mothers and children entained this season at the Lillian home, the summer home of Kingsley House association, will return to Pittsburgh this morning. Since the first of June a two week's outing in the country has been given to 1,066 mothers and children, while a day excursion into the country was provided for 1,344, making a total of 2,410. The people who have been thus entained came from all parts of Pittsburgh and Allegheny, and 24 churches and institutions were represented among the guests. The expenses this season have amounted to $6,500, of which $700 remain to be secured.

Next Saturday and Sunday Mr. and Mrs. William Matthews, the head resident and his wife, and Mrs. Moore, the matron, will entertain a house party composed of the winter and summer forces of volunteer workers at Kingsley house, after which Lillian home will be closed for the season. The addition to Kingsley house itself, at Bedford avenue and Fulton street, will likely be completed in time for the opening of the winter work of the Kingsley House association. This addition includes a large gymnasium, assembly room, class and reading rooms and rooms for the resident workers, together with a system of baths to be installed in the basement.

Planning Aggressive Work.

The Equal Rights association of Allegheny county will meet this evening at the home of Mrs. E. F. Heim, 1113 Sherman avenue, Allegheny. The president, Mrs. A. Starr Martin, will preside, and an aggressive campaign for equal suffrage is contemplated this year.

Conference of Mission Workers.

The quarterely meeting of the Woman's Home and Foreign Missionary society of the Pittsburgh Baptist association will be held today in the Baptist church in Turtle Creek. Delegates will be present from Allegheny, Washington and Beaver counties.

The Panhandle branch of the Pennsylvania will be extended from Chester to Monaca. The railroad will probably be extended through Monaca to Colonia, where the Colonial steel works are located. The new route will afford a new Pennsylvania line from Pittsburgh to Wheeling, and will open up the southern part of Beaver county, which now has no railroad facilities.

ARREST CONVICT AT PRISON DOORS

Postoffice Robber Released from Riverside Is Immediately Taken by Detectives.

IS WANTED IN BLAIR COUNTY

The liberty of John Blade, alias Blair, alias Herrington, who was released yesterday from the Western penitentiary, was of brief duration. At the doors of the big prison he was arrested by General Superintendent H. J. Biderman of the Pinkerton agency in Pennsylvania and Superintendent J. C. Barnes of the Pittsburgh district and returned to Blair county on a charge of being implicated in the robbery of the Bennington bank building several years ago.

Blair, as he is known at Riverside, was convicted of postoffice robbery in Blair county and was sent to the penitentiary June 14, 1901. With him were William Haines and Thomas Casey, convicted as his partners in several jobs. All three were sentenced to five-year terms. Haines was released yesterday, after being questioned by the Pinkertons, Casey, whose alias is Kelly, has been a bad prisoner, and because of this lost some of his commutation. He will remain at Riverside for several months as a penalty.

The robbery of the bank at Bennington, Blair county, was committed prior to the capture of the men and their conviction for postoffice robbery. Blair, who has just finished his fourth term at Riverside, was connected with the Bennington robbery by an alleged accomplice, whose confession the Pinkertons declare they have obtained. The building was entered from a rear window, from which two iron bars were removed. The work done was apparently by experienced men and every part of the building was rifled. From the bank $600 worth of stamps were stolen, and from other rooms money and jewelry were secured.

The Bennington bank officials engaged the Pinkerton agency to run down the criminals. For more than three years no clue to the burglars was found. Then the Pinkertons, it is asserted, secured a statement from a convict who said Blair was in the job. Writs of detainer were issued for Blair and another man doing time at Riverside, from Hollidaysburg. Blair appeared not the least concerned when confronted by the two Pinkertons yesterday, and declared quietly:

"You're in wrong. I never had anything to do with the Bennington job, and you will never prove that I did."

Haines made no statement when he left the prison. The term he just finished is his first in this penitentiary. He is 55 years old and highly educated.

News of Society.

AN interesting event scheduled for today is the wedding of Miss Katherene Louise Gilleland and Charles H. King, the latter of Pasadena, Cal. There will be several out-of-town guests at the wedding, which will take place at the Hotel Schenley at 6:30 o'clock, the Rev. Dr. William L. McEwan, pastor of the Third Presbyterian church, officiating. Among those who have come to Pittsburgh as wedding guests are Dr. and Mrs. H. R. Bowers and Miss Anna Bowers of Lancaster, and Dr. and Mrs. Charles Frederick Stewart of Chicago. The rehearsal for the wedding took place at the hotel at 8 o'clock last evening and was followed by an informal supper. Miss Gilleland presented her attendants with dainty leather purses, while to his best man and ushers Mr. King gave handsome diamond scarpins. In addition to the members of the bridal party, the guests last evening included Mr. and Mrs. Wilson A. Gilleland, parents of the bride; Mr. and Mrs. Ernest E. Jones of Oakmont and the out-of-town guests.

Will Have Several Attendants.

Miss Mathilda Gloekler, a sister of the bride, will be maid of honor this morning at the wedding of Miss Tressa Elizabeth Gloekler and Raymond A. Franz in St. Philomena's Roman Catholic church. The bride's only other attendant will be Miss Marguerita Franz, a sister of the bridegroom. Frederick Good will serve as best man and the bridal party will also include the ushers, Michael Stanford, Joseph Cawley, Thomas Walsh, Milton Franz and George Hess. The Rev. Father Ritter will be assisted in celebrating high nuptial mass by the Rev. Father Christopher, the Rev. Father Schnorr and the Rev. Father Kraus. The church ceremony will be followed by a wedding breakfast only for the attendants and the immediate relatives of the bridal couple at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Gloekler in Millvale avenue. After their wedding trip Mr. Franz and his bride will reside in Johnson avenue, Hazelwood, where they have announced days at home for after December 1.

Dinner for Chicago Visitors.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Elbert Jones of Oakmont will give an informal little dinner of a dozen covers on Saturday evening, the guests of honor to be Dr. and Mrs. C. Frederick Stewart of Chicago, who came east to attend the Gilleland-King wedding this evening. Dr. and Mrs. Stewart will remain at the Schenley over the wedding, and will then visit with Mr. and Mrs. Jones in Oakmont until Sunday evening, when they leave for the west. It will be remembered that the wedding of Dr. and Mrs. Stewart took place last spring at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jones, who were then living in the East End. The bride was Miss Martha King, a sister of Mrs. Jones, and a niece of Mrs. Alexander King of Baywood, North Negley avenue. She is also a sister of Charles H. King, who will wed Miss Gilleland this evening.

Bridal Party Is Announced.

Miss Alice Ablett, as maid of honor; Henriet Fetterman, as best man; S. S. Stewart and Frank F. Ablett, as ushers, will compose the bridal party at attending Miss Laura G. Ablett and Dr. J. M. Fetterman at their wedding on October 4. The Rev. Henry D. Lindsay, pastor of the North Presbyterian church, Allegheny, will perform the ceremony at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Ablett, in Fulton street, Allegheny. Half after six is the hour appointed for the ceremony, which will be witnessed only by the relatives of the young couple, but at 8 o'clock a large reception will be held.

Flickinger-Cropp.

Miss Quindarah Daisy Flickinger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Rhoard of Camp avenue, Braddock, and Frank Vincent Cropp of Swissvale, were married last evening at the home of the bride's parents. About 80 relatives and friends witnessed the ceremony, which was performed by the Rev. J. F. Clokey, pastor of Calvary Presbyterian church, assisted by the Rev. Mr. Fisher, pastor of the Swissvale Presbyterian church. Mrs. F. N. Pilgram played the wedding march. Mr. and Mrs. Cropp left on a brief wedding tour and will reside in Lobingier avenue, North Braddock, on their return.

Home from Spring Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. John P. Knable and their son, Elkins Knable, have returned to their home in Ellsworth avenue after spending some time at Spring Lake, N. J. H., this year.

STOCKS LESS ACTIVE AND PRICES DECLINED

The Public Still Holding Off for Further Assurance Regarding the Money Outlook—Local Securities Extremely Dull.

By JOHN O. BAGLIN, Financial Editor.

The upward movement in the New York stock market on Tuesday, based upon gold imports, did not continue yesterday. London quotations for American securities averaged lower, and it was estimated that the selling orders from abroad overbalanced buying orders. Late in the afternoon the professional traders sold to take profits, the whole list declined and closing prices were near the lowest of the day. During the first two hours trading was fairly active, but in the afternoon it became dull and the total sales for the day were 250,000 shares smaller than on Tuesday.

Wall street was disappointed that there was no increase in outside buying. The reason for this is doubtless that the public demands further assurance regarding the outlook for money before buying stocks at the present relatively high level. There is no dispute about the activity of general business. In fact there is further evidence of this in the movement of currency to the interior. Shipments continued yesterday, and since last Friday the New York banks have lost more than $5,000,000 through sub-treasury operations. The demand for money is in response to increased business throughout the country, and while this condition means larger earnings for railroads and other corporations, with the possibility of larger dividends in the future, it temporarily acts against the stock market because in order to supply the currency demands of the country, the New York banks are compelled to call in loans, and that is almost invariably followed by liquidation and lower prices for stocks.

A somewhat similar reason may account for the apathy of foreigners toward our securities. Commercial and industrial business is not so active abroad, but there are numerous bond issues pending which the foreign market will be called upon to take care of, and in addition to this some drain is likely upon the money market abroad to satisfy the demand which the United States is now making. It was reported from London yesterday that if this American demand for gold promised to continue, there would be a further advance in the Bank of England rate of discount, and that this advance might possibly be made at the special meeting of the governors today. Wall street opinion repeated the report that Secretary Shaw had indicated his intention of increasing government deposits with New York banks, and it added the particular that he mentioned $20,000,000 as the amount that would be available for this purpose; but there was no official warrant for the story.

The most important net declines in the railroad list were ¾ per cent for Union Pacific, 1 per cent for Erie, ½ for St. Paul, and ¾ each for Pennsylvania and Reading. Missouri Pacific and Southern Pacific closed a fraction higher, but they were the only gains in this list.

The largest net decline in the industrial list was 3 per cent for American Smelting common. The annual meeting of this company was held during the day, and the financial statement showed a little more than 8 per cent earned on the common stock, after liberal charges for improvements and depreciation. This compared with 6.43 per cent earned on the stock last year. It was expected that the directors would decare an increased rate of dividend on the common stock, but action was postponed until today. The decline of ½c a pound in copper had a depressing effect on Amalgamated Copper and the stock closed 1¾ per cent lower. United States Steel common and preferred each closed ¾ per cent lower. Tennessee Coal and Iron 1¾ lower and Sloss-Sheffield 1¾ lower. Call loans were quoted at 2½@3 per cent all day.

The local stock market remained extremely dull and narrow. The only active stock was National Fire Proofing preferred, which sold off from 28 to 26¾ and closed steady at the decline. The directors are scheduled to meet today to discuss the bond issue and hear the regular monthly reports. The common stock declined to and closed at 7. American Sewer Pipe advanced ¼ to 33¾, and closed at 33⅝ bid. The natural gas stocks were moderately active and firm. Pittsburgh Oil and Gas led the advance, selling at 56⅞, and Manufacturers Light and Heat rallied to 36½. The coal stocks were almost neglected, the only transaction being 60 shares Pittsburgh preferred at 54, which was unchanged from the last previous sale. There were no sales of Crucible Steel preferred all day, and only 17 shares of the common changed hands. Philadelphia Company sold at 47, an advance of ¾. There were no transactions in any of the Westinghouse stocks. Air Brake closed without quotation. The directors of the company declared the regular quarterly dividend of 2½ per cent and an extra dividend of 2½ per cent, but this action was not known on the exchange before the close of the market. Dealings in bank stocks consisted of 50 shares Diamond National at 420 and 20 shares Real Estate Trust at 240, both unchanged from the last previous sales. There was nothing doing in bonds.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

The gossip relating to National Fire Proofing yesterday embraced a statement credited to an officer of an independent manufacturer of fire proofing material. He is reported to have said that on several contracts recently his company had made bids which represented a very narrow margin of profit, but that in each instance the contracts had been obtained by the National, presumably because of a lower bid. The inference was that while the National's business had largely increased, the net profits on the same would be smaller. Gossip of this character would probably account for some of the liquidation that has taken place on the recent decline from 34 to 28. A good answer to such allegations would be the publication of quarterly reports of business and earnings, similar to those published by the United States Steel Corporation. If the National Fire Proofing Company, or any other company, for that matter, is doing a large and profitable business, the publication of the fact would not only save innocent stockholders needless sacrifice but would strengthen the confidence of prospective consumers of material and decide them to place orders which are held in abeyance. There is scarcely any doubt that the publication of quarterly reports of unfilled orders and net earnings by United States Steel increased that corporation's business. Consumers who had withheld orders, seeing the increased tonnage on the books of the company, accepted the statements as evidence that other consumers were coming into the market, and followed suit. The favorable effects of the publication did not stop here, but as the iron trade is regarded as the barometer of general business, the latter also was benefited.

The following bankers have returned from their summer outings: D. P. Black, president of the Real Estate Trust Company; W. J. Jones, treasurer of the Pittsburgh Bank for Savings; J. D. Lyon, vice president of the Union National bank; A. D. Robb, secretary of the Colonial Trust Company, and C. F. Dean, cashier of the Union National bank.

The annual report of the La Belle Iron works, submitted at the stockholders' meeting in Wheeling, reads a very favorable showing, as follows:

In the local curb market Window Glass Machine common was quoted at 10 bid and the preferred was offered at 45. Fayette County Gas was 92 bid, and Union Natural Gas, 105¾ bid, 107¾ asked. Golden Anchor Mine was quoted at 85c bid for 1,000 shares, 90c asked. Oriental and Mashate 50c bid, 60c asked.

Natural gas stocks were the strongest in the local market yesterday, and there was some improvement in the demand. In addition to the advance in oil, which will increase the earnings of most of the companies, inasmuch as all of them have some oil production, the season is approaching when consumption of gas increases and field expenses diminish.

The directors of the Westinghouse Air Brake Company yesterday declared the usual quarterly dividend of 2½ per cent, and an extra dividend of 2½ per cent, both payable October 2 to stock of record September 22. In some quarters it was thought that the "extra" would be increased, because of the great improvement in business during the past quarter. The annual meeting of the company will be held October 2.

The Continental Trust Company of Pittsburgh has declared a dividend of 1 per cent, payable October 2 to stock of record September 25.

Gross earnings of Southern Railway for the first week in September decreased $23,905. Texas Pacific decreased $28,341, and Missouri Pacific decreased $30,000. Louisville & Nashville reported an increase of $21,315.

The American Beet Sugar Company has declared the regular quarterly dividend of 1½ per cent on its preferred stock, payable October 2 to holders of record September 23.

The Virginia-Carolina Chemical Company has declared the regular quarterly dividend of 2 per cent, payable October 15.

Pittsburgh Coal bonds were offered on the exchange at 104 and accrued interest.

The Otis Elevator Company has declared the regular quarterly dividend of 1½ per cent on its preferred stock, payable October 14 to stockholders of record September 25.

The United Fruit Company has declared its regular quarterly dividend of 1¾ per cent, payable October 14 to holders of record September 20.

The International Smokeless Powder and Chemical Company directors have declared a quarterly dividend of ¾ of 1 per cent on common stock, payable October 1 as registered September 20.

The Interborough Rapid Transit directors have declared a quarterly dividend of 2 per cent, payable October 2.

The United Shoe Machinery Company has declared a quarterly dividend of 1¼ per cent on the preferred and 2 per cent on the common stock.

An analysis of the government crop report by states not only serves to confirm the enormous totals for the wheat and corn crops that figured in the estimate, but reveals that there is not a single state in the wheat or corn belt in which this year's crop does not surpass that of last year by many millions of bushels. Kansas, for example, will produce this year 50,000,000 bushels more of corn than it did last year, and this year's yield of corn in Missouri surpasses that of last year by about 40,000,000 bushels. Nebraska's production of corn will be 14,000,000 bushels in excess of last year's crop; Iowa's, 34,000,000 bushels; Illinois', 25,000,000 bushels; Indiana's, 24,000,000 bushels, and Ohio's, about 6,000,000 bushels. This year's harvest of spring wheat in Minnesota will surpass that of last year by 11,000,000 bushels, while North Dakota's yield is estimated at no less than 32,000,000 bushels in excess of last year's figures, and South Dakota's crop at 12,000,000 bushels in advance of that of last year. Every northwestern, middle western and southwestern railroad will reap the benefit in enhanced traffic returns of the addition to the world's cereal wealth.

Chicago banks have made another fractional advance in money rates. The national banks claim 4½ per cent as their minimum on practically everything and are getting 5 per cent for a large amount of their business. With the trust companies the rates are generally slightly lower, ranging from 4 per cent on call to 4½ and 5 per cent on time. The best grades of commercial paper bring 4½ per cent, though several of the banks are out of that market. Many of the Chicago bankers expect to see money above 5 per cent, and others believe that their New York friends expect to see that rate reached in that market in the near future.

The New York bond market was irregular. United States 2s declined ¼, while the old 4s advanced ¼, and the new 4s ¼ per cent on call.

The remissness reported in the stock market was due to the perception on the part that the relinquishment of gold from foreign centers, while it might constitute a resource against severe damage from money stringency in the New York market, was by no means calculated to provide a redundancy of funds here such as might stimulate an unbridled speculation. Whatever may be New York's ability to draw on foreign money markets, it is believed that it is not going to be payable hereafter rates for money will favorable between now and the period when the movement of the crops is completed. The government's figures of domestic exports for August throw considerable light on the command of foreign credits established, the exports of cotton amounting to 521,076 bales, as compared with 396,826 bales in August of last year. As the comparative price of cotton between the two periods has become adjusted almost to an equality, the increase in value for this year's export has increased over $21,000,000. With the increase in value of breadstuffs, principally due to the outpu of corn, and of provisions added, the increase in value of exports for last month is raised to $28,322,000. It is known also that some large payments have been made for railroad securities, transferred from the hands of New York syndicate holders to foreign purchasers. It is evident therefore, that heavy obligations are due to New York from foreign markets. Sterling exchange steadied, and the suggestion found credence that exchange bills were being purchased again for the remittance of Japanese funds on deposit here to London, the process which has developed of late whenever exchange rates went to a profitable level for that operation. It was generally expected as well that the Bank of England would make a further advance in its official discount rate at today's session of the governors in order to interpose a further obstacle to the loss of gold by London.

HEAVY CLOSE FOLLOWS INTERVAL OF RECOVERY

Practically All Active Issues Show Fractional Net Recession for the Day.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 14.—The Herald this (Thursday) morning says: Stocks continued for an interval yesterday the recovery which set in on Tuesday, and then sold off. The closing was heavy, with practically all active issues showing net recessions for the day, which, in the case of American Smelting and Refining, extended to 2¾ points. This decline was exceptional, however, and the losses for the most part did not exceed fractional limits.

Business appeared to be wholly of a professional character, and covering by the short interest in the early hours was the chief factor in the advance. The rapidity of the recovery naturally invited profit-taking and distribution sales, which influenced the reaction. Speculative sentiment was again much mixed and was concerned chiefly with the confused outlook of the money market.

News developments and rumors were somewhat more numerous than late. The most important development of the day was the appearance of the August statements on domestic exports, showing an increase over 1904 of $28,322,000, chiefly made up of increased cotton shipments. The usual weekly report of the recognized trade authority on iron and steel was again favorable, but neither of these had much influence on the market, which was apparently influencing sales by professional considerations.

The street was again flooded with rumors of a combination of railroads centering around the Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton situation. A report, which lacked verification, was to the effect that the treasury was preparing to re-deposit $25,000,000 with the banks recently withdrawn from them.

The remainder of the session of the stock market was devoted to the perception on the fact that the relinquishment of gold from foreign centers, while it might constitute a resource against severe damage from money stringency in the New York market, was by no means calculated to provide a redundancy of funds here such as might stimulate an unbridled speculation. Whatever may be New York's ability to draw on foreign money markets, it is believed that it is not going to be payable hereafter rates for money will favorable between now and the period when the movement of the crops is completed. WILL BUILD BIG HOTEL.

Ground for Structure Is Broken on Property of Pittsburgh Syndicate at Cape May.

CAPE MAY, N. J., Sept. 13.—(Special.)—Enthusiasm prevailed here today when it was announced that Doyle & Doak, Philadelphia builders, would begin the erection of a fireproof hotel on the 200-acre tract which the Pittsburgh syndicate is developing. The beginning of a large crowd of people when work was broken for the hotel by Peter Shields, president of the Cape May Hotel Company, and the Cape May Real Estate Company.

He thanked the city officials and citizens who he said had given great encouragement to the stupendous improvement. The hotel will contain 350 guest chambers, 125 bath rooms, an immense lobby, banquet halls and amusement parlors.

FOUNDRY TRADE IS ACTIVE AGAIN

Large Demand for Iron and Coke Arises Suddenly from This Source.

GENERAL STEEL MARKET NEWS

Added to the almost unprecedented demand for certain finished lines, a new factor of much interest has been injected into the iron and steel situation by the sudden activity of the foundry trade. This trade is now calling for large supplies of pig iron and of coke. It has been the most dilatory of all iron lines in returning to the activity which ruled before the depression of 1903-04.

That the prices of foundry iron will advance and with them the quotations on Bessemer is considered almost inevitable under the present condition. Bessemer at $15 00, which consumers considered a high quotation only a few weeks ago, is now a minimum, it is claimed, and there is little doubt that $16 00 will be reached before the year is ended.

The demand for rails has exceeded all expectation. It is stated that fully 300,000 tons ordered for 1905 delivery will have to go over into 1906 and in addition up to date 1,500,000 tons have been ordered for 1906 delivery. A couple of the independent rail mills are said to have the entire capacity taken for the first three quarters of 1906.

The order for 170,000 tons from the Pennsylvania was said yesterday to be for renewals only. It was further stated that the company will need a large tonnage of new rails for extensions, etc., although this amount is as yet an unknown quantity.

Structural material continues high and spot delivery is unobtainable. Those who stocked this material a few months ago are realizing large premiums for prompt delivery.

The market for sheet steel and tin plate is picking up with the resumption of a number of the independent and United States Steel plants. Bars, plates and general lines of merchant steel are in strong demand.

The Hardware Market.

Orders for hardware continue in very good shape and volume from all sides, the demand being for general goods throughout the entire line, builders' hardware, carpenters' and mechanics' tools, house furnishing goods, nails and wire, sheet iron, bar iron, tin plates and heavy hardware all having their full share of attention. In addition an excellent business is being placed on ammunition, shotguns and rifles. Judging from the sales of ammunition the season in this line promises to be the largest ever known. Window glass continues to move in a good manner, one of the difficulties being the inability to get certain sizes, and it now looks as though it would be possibly 30 days before these sizes could be supplied. The coming of the fall season is stirring up the paint business so that sales of paints, colors and varnishes, together with kindred supplies in brushes and goods of like kind are being made in good numbers. Bicycle and automobile sundries continue to move, riders evidently being as much interested in the sport as ever, and demanding good attention for their machines and needing repairs to keep them in shape. Prices in all lines continue firm, there being no recent changes, but there are some rumors of slight advances to materialize later. The Bindley Hardware Company furnishes the following quotations:

Columbia pocket knives, discount 25 per cent; Albion hatchets, discount 40 and 10 per cent; Bindley canal shovels, $6 60 a dozen; Great Western files, discount 70 and 10 per cent; sheet iron, base, No. 26, $2 35 the 100 pounds; galvanized sheet iron, discount 70 and 10 per cent; nash weights, the ton, $24 00; window glass, first and second brackets, B single, 90 per cent off list of October 1, 1904; all other sizes, single and double, 88 per cent off list of October 1, 1904, for immediate acceptance only; Albion sewing machines, discount 25 per cent; blue and white enameled ware, 60 and 10 per cent; Albion hot plates, 40 per cent; Albion lanterns, 40 per cent; hay forks, 60 per cent.

BRILLIANT PROMISE IN ENTIRE IRON INDUSTRY

Purchases of Steel Rails Have Been Heavy—Big Deal Is Soon to Be Closed in Bessemer Pig.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—The Iron Age tomorrow will say of the iron and metal trades:

The whole iron industry is enjoying great activity and a brilliant promise for the future. There have been further heavy purchases of steel rails, the Pennsylvania Company leading with over 175,000 tons distributed among the mills on the line of the road. The Missouri Pacific has taken 25,000 tons to former orders and the Harriman lines 32,000 tons. The Soo Line has purchased 10,000 tons and the Wheeling & Lake Erie 5,000 tons. The Tennessee Company has orders on its books aggregating over 210,000 tons, which will keep the works busy far into 1906, while the Colorado mill is connected for about half its capacity. The New York Central is negotiating for 100,000 tons and another for 50,000 tons.

It is reported today negotiations will be closed for the sale to the Steel Corporation of 10,000 to 15,000 tons of Bessemer pig for September delivery. It is estimated the leading interest will need between 35,000 and 40,000 tons a month of Bessemer pig during the balance of this year.

The August production of the Greene Consolidated Copper Company was slightly in excess of 5,500,000 pounds and it was all sold above 16 cents per pound. This would indicate net earnings for the month of at least $850,000, as against monthly dividend requirements of the present basis of $172,800, or twice dividend requirements.

The Black Hills Copper Company of Jerome, Arizona, has resumed active development work. The officers of the company are as follows: R. A. Thomas, New York, president and director; Peter Boyd, general superintendent National Tube Company, Pittsburgh, vice president and director; Francis L. Robbins, president Pittsburgh Coal Company, Pittsburgh, director; A. S. List, president City Bank, Wheeling, W. Va., director; L. J. Sinclair, banker, Steubenville, Ohio, director; H. C. Staver, president Staver Carriage Company, Chicago, Ill., director; J. R. Thomas, Los Angeles, California, director; F. J. The Metal Market.

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—The London tin market experienced a sharp break, presumably as a result of speculative liquidation, and closed at £146 2s 6d for spot and £145 10s for futures. The local market was easy in sympathy with spot quoted at $31.87½@32.10. Copper was easier in London closing at £63 for spot and £68 15s 6d for futures. The local situation is reported to be a shade easier with lake and electrolytic quoted at $16.06@16.37½, although some dealers still claim that supplies for immediate delivery can hardly be secured except at advances on the outside figure quoted. Casting is held at $16.75@16.12½.

FLOUR MARKET STILL IN DRAGGY CONDITION

Dealers Would Be Satisfied With Any Price If Market Would Only Settle.

Cooler weather seemed to put a damper on the local markets yesterday for there was little doing in any line. The produce men along Liberty street and the wholesale grocers, as well as the grain dealers, all complained of a lack of interest on the part of buyers.

Flour maintained its draggy condition and shading is being indulged in at a lively rate to induce buyers to take hold. They are continuing the prices which has been followed for a couple of months, however, of buying in small quantities, just enough to carry them over the needs of the present and waiting for the market to settle. The situation is not pleasing to either the retailers or the wholesalers. Neither side would care what figure the market would settle at if it would only settle. In its present condition it makes business uncertain. The same may be said of sugar, which is holding its own simply because there is a heavy demand at present for canning purposes while the market is really not strong.

Green goods, butter, eggs and cheese were all a little weak yesterday, chiefly because buyers were not in the market for the day. Sales of fruit, particularly apples and peaches, were heavy, but there was little else doing. No changes were effected in quotations.

Receipts yesterday were: Pennsylvania—8 oats, 5 corn, 28 hay, 2 straw, 2 feed, 2 rye. B. & O.—1 straw, 1 oats. Lake Erie—2 hay.

Receipts of oats were light and the market continues to advance. Clover and mixed hay are lower on account of heavy receipts. Shelled corn is steady. There is no change in feed.

Parker & Edwards' New Well Is Producing 150 Barrels a Day

Very few completions were reported from the lower southwest fields and none of any great importance as to size or location. On Fallen Timber run, in Grant district, Wetzel county, the Parker & Edwards Oil Company has a better producer at its test on the D. H. Fisher farm than indicated when drilled into the pay. It was drilled a little deeper into the sand and produced 150 barrels the second 24 hours. The first 24 hours it was estimated with the rock pressure. The size of this well makes it look promising for finding more good producers in that locality. There is considerable territory on Fallen Timber run that has not been fully developed. The oil is found in the Big Injun formation and the wells show good staying qualities. In the Smithfield district the South Penn Company has drilled its test on the Lindsey Strawn farm eight feet into the Gordon and the hole has filled up several hundred feet with fluid. Unless it improves with deeper drilling it will make a fair pumper. In the same district the same company has drilled its second test on the A. A. Mayfield farm 128 feet into the Big Injun, and the well is producing a little oil in the sand. Harrison county, the South Penn Company has completed and shot its No. 1 on the Rachel Carpenter farm and the well produced 15 barrels the first 24 hours from the Gordon.

In the Yellow Creek district, Carlisle county, the South Penn Oil Company has now drilled its second test on the G. W. Elliott farm through the Berea grit and the well is producing 15 barrels a day. This is the well located two miles in advance of developments and was drilled last week. It shows an extension and has made room for considerable work in the same district the Carter Oil Company has drilled its test on the J. L. Snyder farm through the Berea grit and has a duster. There was but five feet of sand found in this well. In the No. 2 on the G. W. Elliott farm the Berea grit was found to be 12 feet in thickness and seven feet of pay. On Katy Lick run, Hardin district, Harrison county, the Philadelphia company has drilled its second test on the D. L. Ash farm through the Gordon and has a fair showing of oil. It is located 40 feet south of No. 1 and its rock is something of a surprise. No. 1 was completed more than a month ago and is a very large producer. It is the largest found in many years and its capacity was estimated at 10,000,000 cubic feet a day. Since then the Hope Natural Gas Company and the Manufacturers and Grafton Gas companies have completed tests in that locality and got rather light wells. North of Cairo, Ritchie county, the Stewart United Oil Company's No. 16 on the Kendall Oil Company's farm is holding up at 100 barrels a day.

In the new development, near Wolfsburg, Brook county, the Carter Oil Company has completed a second test on the John T. Bowman farm and has a natural producer, and good for more than 400 barrels a day. In the same district, Jones Bros. have started a test on the A. Lewis farm and Hall & Lang have started a second test on the George Schwertfager farm.

On the Ohio side, in Monroe county, Wilson & Shafer have drilled their second test on the John Grimes farm. Bumper Run district, and have a duster. In the Morgan Valley, Morgan county, W. Wallace has completed No. 2 on the George Lee farm and has a 15-barrel producer. In the Adams Run district, Marion county, C. F. Chandler has completed a test on the John Patterson farm and has a very light pumper in the Berea grit. The Hamilton Oil Company's No. 1 on the C. L. Hill farm completed last week, is pulled up at 40 barrels a day. The five wells on the Farnsworth farm, Doddridge county, are pumping 75 barrels a day. Jones & Bowers & Lang are drilling a test on the Hamilton Hedge farm. In the shallow sand district Parker parties are building the rig for a test on the A. D. Miller farm. At Cairo the Cairo Gas Company is drilling a test on the Jarvis Kerr lot. In Athens township Andrew Bruner & Co. are drilling a test on the C. F. Smith farm. The Carter Company, Lovejoy, has been active in that locality. The well is said to have penetrated the Berea formation at a depth of 20 feet, and it is quite likely that there will be some activity in the locality. The test drilled on the W. G. Cope farm showed for eight hours only a day in the Cow Run sand. Last week drilled to the Berea grit and for a time produced from that level and was then abandoned.

BEARISH SENTIMENT PREVAILS IN MARKET

Belief in Heavy Movement of Wheat Impending Produces Weakness in the Pit.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

CHICAGO, Sept. 13.—Belief in a heavy movement of wheat impending northwest produced weakness in the wheat market here today. At the close December delivery was off ½@⅝c. Corn is down ½@¾c; oats are up ¼c. Provisions show a loss of 5@12½c. Sentiment in the wheat pit was rather bearish at the opening, the December option being off a shade at 83¼c. The origin of the easier undertone was a continuation of clear weather in the northwest. It was inferred that as a result arrivals of new wheat from the farms would be materially increased. Receipts today at Minneapolis and Duluth were of large volume, arrivals at the two points being 687 cars, compared with 337 cars a year ago. Notwithstanding, however, that the day's receipts of wheat at the northwestern grain centers were more than double the receipts

Q. & C. TO RENEW ALL ITS BRIDGES

Famous Structure Over Kentucky River to Be Steel Arch. Ferry Is Launched.

RUSHING LOW GRADE ROUTE

Improvements of a gigantic character have just been started on the Queen & Crescent route. The largest item in the improvements is that of the rebuilding of practically all of the bridges on the main line south from Cincinnati. This will include the high bridge across the Kentucky river, which is one of the most celebrated railroad bridges in the country, both because of its construction at such a high altitude and because of the very fine scenery along the line at that point.

These improvements have become necessary because of the steady increase of the freight business of the road, which is demanding heavier motive power, and also because of the big increase in passenger traffic, particularly in the heavy travel and the big Pullman cars needed to care for the southern business. For the passenger service orders are now in the hands of the locomotive builders for some large Atlantic type engines. H. M. Waite, superintendent of the Cincinnati division, with headquarters at Lexington, Ky., said a couple of days ago to a representative of The Gazette that this work has been begun and will be pushed along with all possible dispatch.

"We have found our traffic, both passenger and freight, growing so much in the past few years that better road facilities and motive power are urgently needed," said Mr. Waite. "In our large high-speed passenger trains we are now required to run double-headers, which is not the best thing to do from an operating standpoint. We want to use Atlantics in this service, as well as in all of our fast through trains, and to do this, as well as to secure heavier motive power for the freight service, we must have new bridges. The old ones, understand, are perfectly safe in every particular for the traffic that is being hauled now, and would possibly bear the strain of the heavier rolling stock; but to make every point of safety secure, the new bridges will be best. Practically all of the bridges on the road will be rebuilt.

"This will include the high bridge over the Kentucky river, which has long been one of the places of interest on the Queen & Crescent. What form this bridge will take is of interest, and I believe that an arch bridge of steel construction will be placed there. The present bridge is of the under-truss type. The picturesque old piers that were built many years ago by the first construction men, with the intention of building a suspension bridge, will remain unmolested."

General Passenger Agent W. C. Rinearson of Cincinnati and Col. W. W. Dunnavant, traveling passenger agent of the Queen & Crescent, who has charge of the passenger business of the road in this section, both predict heavy travel to the south this winter, and preparations are being made accordingly. The regular travel to points reached by the Queen & Crescent outside of the immediate New Orleans zone, has been unusually heavy throughout this year to date. The Queen & Crescent's perfect signal system has attracted the attention of the railroads and general public the world over.

Many See New Ferry Launched.

About 50 traffic men of Pittsburgh were present in Cleveland at the launching of the big new steel car ferry, the Marquette & Bessemer No. 2, at the yards of the American Ship Building Company in Cleveland Tuesday. Miss Hammon, the pretty daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. J. Hammon of Pittsburgh, was sponsor for the new boat, and officiated at the launching at the appointed hour, 3 o'clock p. m. Mr. Hammon is general freight agent of the Bessemer & Lake Erie road. There was a large assemblage present to witness the launching, and as the monster ferry moved cheers went up from those present. The affair went off with clock-like regularity.

The new ferry will be placed in service between Conneaut Harbor and Port Stanley, across Lake Erie. The owning company is composed of Bessemer & Lake Erie and Pere Marquette railroad interests, and the ferry will be used jointly by these roads for transportation of loaded cars across the lakes.

Pushing Eastern End of Low Grade.

Pennsylvania officers will push along the construction of the eastern end of the low grade freight line from Glen Loch, Chester county, to Fifty-sixth street and Lancaster avenue, Philadelphia, and thence into Philadelphia. Chief Engineer W. H. Brown and Chief G. S. Webster of the bureau of surveys of Philadelphia, inspected the proposed route in that city Tuesday and an ordinance will be presented in councils there for the line in the near future. The plan of the road has been laid before Mayor Weaver. The surveyed line from Glen Loch to Philadelphia will be an expensive piece of road, for it passes through several fine country estates of wealthy Philadelphians. From Glen Loch westward to Marysville, west of Harrisburg, the company now has a low grade line for freight traffic. Eastbound from the main line, and from Petersburg on the middle division to Pittsburgh there is also a low grade line, with the exception of the short stretch across the Allegheny from Bennington to Laurel Run. Connection at Glen Loch is made with the Trenton cutoff, and freight from Jersey City comes westward without passing through Philadelphia.

The return of President A. J. Cassatt to his office Tuesday is the beginning of an active campaign of fall work on the Pennsylvania system. Plans for work proposed will be taken up at the first meeting of the board of directors on September 27.

"Bed Bug Special" on Its Run.

Whether the sobriquet is authorized by the Union Pacific officers is not known by General Agent G. G. Herring here, but anyway there is a special train going over the lines of that system now under the name of "Bed Bug Special." It is not a train containing bed bugs, but is simply a specially equipped train of an engine and two cars that is going over the road to rid the section houses of bed bugs and vermin. The cars are equipped with steam hose from which the steam is forced into every crevice of the section houses, which treatment of the vermin is followed by a dose of germicide.

Terminal Band Serenades a Member.

The "Terminal Brass Band," composed of employes of the Pennsylvania railroad in Pittsburgh, was in evidence Tuesday night by its appearance on a street car and its giving a concert over the city. This concert was in honor of a member of the band, Charles Barteis, who was married to Miss Ida Brown of Knoxville. He is a clerk in the office of General Yardmaster C. Donahue of the passenger terminal, and is one of the most popular employes. He left with his bride yesterday morning for a honeymoon trip to Atlantic City, New York and other eastern points. Upon their return they will live in Pittsburgh. The Terminal Brass band, under the leadership of William Lunham, serenaded the couple and then celebrated the event by touring a portion of the city. The band has five horns, one bass drum, three snare drums, three cowbells and—"red fire to burn."

Railroad Notes.

Word has been received from H. H. Temple, engineer of maintenance of way of the Pittsburgh system of the Baltimore & Ohio, that he expects to arrive in Pittsburgh the last of this week. He will probably resume his duties next week. During his absence in Kentucky because of a siege of typhoid fever, E. G. Lane, division engineer of the New Castle division, has been acting engineer maintenance of way.

Announcement is made of a quickening of the schedule of the Panhandle trains Nos. 3 and 30 on the western division 20 and 30 minutes, respectively, effective next Sunday. This will give a better service on the Panhandle between Pittsburgh and Chicago. Leaving Pittsburgh at 6 o'clock on No. 29, a passenger can make connections with No. 3 at Columbus and arrive in Chicago at 7:15 a. m.

The Pennsylvania system has issued notices that on and after September 15 no freight cars destined for points on or via the New York, New Haven & Hartford road will be received. The Pennsylvania system itself will inaugurate a similar ruling for its own system July 1, 1906, as exclusively announced in The Gazette recently.

Frank M. Lockhart and A. W. Conwell, clerks in the office of General Superintendent Robert Pitney of the Baltimore & Ohio, are enjoying a vacation sojourn at Buckeye Lake, O.

Wyn B. Morris, chief clerk in the passenger department of the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie, has returned from his canoeing vacation on the Allegheny river.

A. J. Smith, general passenger and ticket agent of the Lake Shore & Michigan Southern, was in conference Tuesday with General Passenger Agent L. A. Hobson of the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie.

E. T. Lomax, general passenger and ticket agent of the Union Pacific, was here Tuesday calling on General Agent G. G. Herring and Traveling Passenger Agent Samuel A. Myers.
